Washington, August 9.-The democratic to announce an agreement today. Instead of reaching any definite conclusion, the day

It was apparent at the very beginning of the conference that those who had come to the conclusion at the adjournment of yesterday's session that an agreement would be arrived at today had not taken sufficiently into account the possibility of a misunderstanding or a change of mind.

This discovery was made when the senate

conferees prepared to go on with the bill upon the basis of a duty of 40 cents per ton on coal and free iron ore, whereupon the house conferees announced their unwilling-ness.to accept this arrangement, and stated that they would insist upon a reversal of these terms with coal tree and iron ore du-

The whole situation was outlined to them.

They were not only made acquainted with the demand of the house conferees for free that other material concessions would be of this feature of the proposition and other

COUNTY MEETINGS CALLED TO ACT

Democracy's Victory Is Due Largely to Chairman Tompkins and Congress-man Clark with the Blue Eyes.

Birmingham, Ala., August 9 .- The conference of the Kolb leaders which convened yesterday finished their labors today. They have been consulting on the situation and discussing a plan of action. The following address to the people was given out this afternoon as the result of their labors: "To the People of Alabama: The campaign committee of the Jeffersonian. mocracy and the people's party of Alabama have been instructed by a conference of our state candidates, the leading sup-porters of that ticket and the state execulive committee to promulgate the follow-

"The election returns, as reported by the Associated Press and supporters of the ticket headed by Colonel Outes, show a repetition of the election frauds of 1892, the least semblance of justification, in order to overcome legitimate majorities of our ticket in forty-one white counties.

CHAIRMAN TOMPKINS.

These false and fraudulent majorities aggregate 34,107 from fifteen black beit counties. In 1892 these same black beit countles aggregated majorities of 28,689. In addition to this, frauds have been perpetrated in white counties of not less than fifteen thousand. With the consummation of these has also been brought forth four or nye fraudulently elected senators and eleven of twelve fraudulently elected representa-tives in the general assembly. This outrageous action, intensified by the impudence and effrontery with which it has been taken, displays a disregard of public sentiment in such a brazen-faced manner that it seems to have been intended to add insult to injury.

"The law under which the election of 1892 was held was devised to assure the perpetration of fraud with ease, facility and safety, has been amended by the Sayers law, the purposes of which were to disfran-chise illiterate voters and to assure the perpetration of greater frauds in the black belt counties as has been demonstrated by the election just held, and as was known and intended by the usurper who exercises the functions of governor, as was illustrated by his remark when he signed that bill. A contest law was promised to allay and prevent a popular upris-ing in 1892, to be broken in the most shameless manner, and the perfidy and treachers displayed was afterwards boasted of as a fine piece of legerdemain. We admonish our people not to accept promises nor pledges from those who have proven themselves recreant to every requirement or law, to every demand of honor, and to every exaction of duty, as well as demonstrated that they are enemies to liberty and to republican institutions.

"In the face of the facts that only a

"The condition in this state has reached a climax. There is ho doubt that the state ticket headed by Captain R. F. Kolb has been elected. The alternative is pre-sented of submission to wrong, insult and robbery, or to assert the sovereign power before which thrones totter, scepters fail and the outrages of tyrants cease. That alternative must meet a response from unworthy of citizenship. A proud and chivalrous people, worthy of freedom, cannot shirk the responsibilities the situation enforces. A distinguished patriot has asserted that 'the man who will fight for his liberty is unworthy of free-dom.' We do not advise fighting or lawlessness of any kind; but the crisis has arisen which demands that the sovereign power shall assert itself to compel un-worthy servants of its will to submit to its

THE VICTORY EXPLAINED. Kolb's Methods Drove Off the Negro

Vote and Many White Men. Montgomery, Ala., August 8.—(Special.)— Several reasons contributed to the defeat of the Kolbites ticket in Alabama, chiefest among which was the polling of too many democratic votes. It is believed Captain Kolb's leaders made a grave campaign blunder by kicking the negro out of their ranks. The next mistake was forming that partnership with the republicans, for, while campaign money was secured by the alli-ance, it ran off practically all of Kolb's democratic followers. Then, too, the election served to show that the republican and populist votes did not readily mix. A considerable loss to Kolb resulted, too, from the rain on election day. His losses from this course were probably greater than were those of the democrats, as Kolb is thought to have a larger following in the remote districts. And last, though by no means least among the causes which contributed to Kolb's defeat was the magnificent management of the officers of the democratic state executive committee, the directors of the campaign during the latter three or four weeks of the canvass.

The Old Story of Fraud. There is every reason to believe that Monday's election was the fairest held in Ala-bama since the war. There may have been a few trifling instances of the "hidden hand" in some sections of the state, but the predominance of the evidence appears to fix the guilt in most of these cases on the opposition manipulators. The fact is apparent from the returns that Kolb's ticket sustained its greatest losses in counting et sustained its greatest losses in counties where his party held control, and his chief where his party held control, and his chief gains were in counties where the democrats had all of the machinery. Captain Kolb claims a majority of 18,000 votes in the state. He expected to get 50,000 majority, as he boasted in every county in the state during the campaign. He has always claimed to have been elected by 45,000 majority in 1892, and his claim of only 18,000 this time is considered here to be an acknowledgement from him that he has lost 32,000 votes honestly, and it cannot be figured out here on what he predicates his claim that the democrats stole the balance of their votes. The party leaders here are felicitating themselves greatly on the victory their ticket has achieved, and they extend their congratulations and sincere thanks to the voters of the state, the people who did the work.

Credit to Whom Credit Is Due.

Too much credit cannot be bestowed upon Chairman Henry C. Tompkins and Secretary Thomas Clark, of the state executive committee, for the part they contributed to the victory. Without any bluster, bluff or hurrah, they worked up an amazing interest among the voters on their side. They did it in such a way that the opposition was misled. Many democrats, during the early part of the campaign, were disposed to think that more pyrotechnics should be employed by the committee in order to reassure the timid, but the good generalship of Messrs. Tompkins and Clark is now apparent. Secretary Clark is a member of the legislature re-elect from this county, and the result of Monday's vote makes the odds many to one that he will occupy the spaker's chair in the lower house in December. It looks, too, like ex-Speaker Frank L. Pettus, senator-elect from the Dallas district, will be unanimously called upon to preside over the deliberations of the distinguished body of which he is a member.

It is confidently stated here that the Credit to Whom Credit Is Due.

It is confidently stated here that friends of these gentlemen already the places "compered" for them.

The Congressional Races.

Senator Morgan has a lead-pipe cinch on the senate, and the returns indicate that all of the congressional districts are safe for democratic congressmen, except, perhaps, the seventh, and the democrats are not by any means prepared to surrender that. The campaign for the congressional nominations opens at once. All of the present congressmen, excepting one, Colonel Denson, who "toted his own skillet" strictly, did valiant service for the democratic state ticket in the campaign. All of them excepting one, Mr. Clark, of the first district, will have opposition to the nomination. The Congressional Races

IMPLICATED IN THE KILLING OF ROSS

Skelton, the Girl Who Figured in the Case.

The Judge Is a Brother-in-Law of Annie

Montgomery, Ala., August 9.-The supreme ourt today handed down its decision in the impeachment case of Circuit Court Vudge Tally, of Jackson county.

Some months ago a man named Ross was killed at Stevenson, Ala., by two or more Skeltons, the cause being the ruin of their sister by Ross. When Ross attempted to get away from Scottsboro, the Skeltons heard of it, pursued him and killed him before he could take the train at Stevenson. The ground for impeachment proceedings against Tally, who is a brother-in-law of the Skeltons, was a telegram which he sent to the telegraph operator at Stevenson, not to deliver a telegram to Ross from Ross's brother. This was held by those favoring impeachment to make Judge Tally a party to the killing, while Judge Tally insisted that his telegram was for the purpose of preventing the waylaying and killing of the Skeltons as well as causing the arrest of Ross, before the Skeltons arrived, so that trouble could be averted all around.

Chief Justice Brickell having been of counsel for Judge Tally before he was approved to succeed the late Chief Justice Stone, did not sit in the case.

The opinion was read by Associate Justice McClellan, and occupied over two hours. The defendant was in court with his counsel and many friends. The opinion concludes as follows:

"And we are impelled to find that John B. Tally, aided and abetted the murder of Robert C. Ross, as alleged in the second specification of the second count of the information, and to adjudge that he is guilty as charged in that specification and guilty of murder as charged in said second count. And judgment deposing him from office will be entered on the records of the court."

Associate Justice Head dissented, holding that there was a reasonable doubt as to Judge Tally's intentions in sending the telegram to Huddleston and had a reasonable doubt that if the telegram of warning had been delivered that Ross would not have been killed.

The impeaciment of so distinguished a man as Judge Tally makes a profound impression. He was regarded as an able judge and has been unusual popular.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

And Others Injured in a Wreck on the Rock Island Railroad.

Lincoln, Neb., August 9 .- The northbound Rock Island passenger train was wrecked on a high bridge between four and five miles south of here shortly after 10 o'clock tonight. Seven persons are known to have been killed, five of them being burned to death. Particulars, owing to the distance to the scene of the wreck, are hard to obtain. It is feared that the death list may be largely increased. The train, which is a local, comprised the engine, tender, combination baggage and smoking car and a coach. The engine and the combination baggage and smoking car went over the bridge, the coach being suspended on the trestle.

Twenty-two passengers and the brakemen, who were in the end of the coach, were uninjured, and they set about rescuing the luckless trainmen and passengers imprisoned in the wreck below. They managed to release two who were injured, but the wreck took fire and the would-be rescuers were driven back by the intense heat. It is known that five who were in the wreck were burned to death.

Those known to be killed are the conductor, engineer and fireman, three commercial travelers and two farmers. The express messenger is thought to be fatally injured.

CURED BY FAITH.

A Young Lady Attributes Her Conva'escence to the Power of Faith.

THE STORY SHE TELLS ABOUT IT

Her Recovery Causes the Organization of a Faith Cure Band-What the Band Believes.

The western part of the city is con

A young lady of the somewhat unusual name of Miss Alta Trimmer is said to have been the subject of a cure that deserved to rank alongside of the miracles of old, The stir caused by this cure, which is con The stir caused by this cure, which is confidently attributed to the power of faith, has caused the organization of a band in western Atlanta, which holds stated meetings twice a week to further their views.

Miss Trimmer resides with relatives at 176 Davis street. She was seen yesterday and it was only after considerable persuasion that she was induced to talk about the "Last December I was visiting Cedar-town, Ga.," said Miss Trimmer, "and on the 24th day of that month I accidentally fell, my knee striking the point of a pair of scissors. Both blades of the scissors pene-trated the knee joint, going clear to the

"The wound was a most dangerous one and I was brought to Atlanta for treatment. I was confined to my bed for weeks and grew constantly worse. Two of the most eminent surgeons in the city treated the wound, but failed to effect a cure.

"Lithen tried electric treatment, massage treatment and various other remedies, but nothing did any good. I suffered intensely all the time and the wound grew steadily

"At last I was told by friends that I could be cured by faith and despairing of receiving any human aid, I determined to try the power of faith and prayer, although I had never believed in divine healing. "I began to study the Bible and found it teeming with miraculous cures of the sick

I then became convinced that the Lord ld and would cure me, if I would only trust in Him.

"A few days ago I was taken to Mrs. Vaughan's house, the Bethany home, on Larkin street, to be prayed for. I went because I had heard of Mrs. Vaughan's pert faith and thought that she would sup-in faith what I lacked.

"When I went I had to be carried by two men to the buggy and had to be carried into Mrs. Vaughan's house. I was taken into the parlor and found the room well filled with people, who had assembled at a regular meeting. "I was annointed with sacred oil, which was poured on my head, and then we knelt in prayer. During the prayer I suddenly became conscious of the possession of sudden strength. I immediately arose and walked across the room several times, to the great surprise of myself and all pres-

"From that day to this I have been perfectly well. The wound in my knee has been perfectly healed, and I am now strong and in better health than I have ever been before. I only tell of this remarkable cure because having been the recipient of so great a blessing I consider myself bound to let others know of it."

The Bethany home alluded to is a fiveroom cottage at No. 36 Larkin street. Yesterday afternoon one of the regular eetings of the faith cure band was held at the home. #### BALTIMORE'S PROJECT.

Special Attention Will Be Paid to the Resources of the South.

Baltimore, Md., August 9.-Major Freder lck Backett, who has been selected as general manager of the Baltimore Centennial exposition, to be held in 1897, states that this exposition will be the greatest ever held in this country, excepting the world's fair and the Centennial, of Philadelphia, and the Cotton States exposition next year. It is expected that outside of all exp tures by private corporations or individuals at least $5,000,000 will be expended upon the The detailed report of proposed schedof expenses shows a total of nearly $2,500,000 for buildings and improvements to grounds. While the exposition will be naand international in scope, large hibits from foreign countries being ex-pected, it is proposed to supplement the work of Atlanta's southern exposition by a work of Atlanta's southern exposition by a comprehensive display of southern re-sources and of southern manufactured prod-ucts. Arrangements will be made for spe-cial state buildings and the displays from the Atlanta exposition of 1895 so as to pre-sent to the world a panorama of the whole

Owing to Baltimore's location mid-way be tween the south and the north it is expected that on a conservative basis an attendance 6,000,000 can be counted upon.

COMPTON WILL RESIGN.

ship of a Campaign Club. Baltimore, Md., August 9 .- Seven :n Baltimore, Md., August 9.—Seven members of the Maryland democratic state central committee are now in federal offices and are holding their positions, some in practical defiance of Mr. Cleveland's well known policy, if not in express defiance of his orders. Among the number are Barnes Compton, chairman of the committee, naval officer; Buchanan Schley, surveyor of the port, and Dr. Frank T. Shaw, collector of customs. President Cleveland told Dr. Shaw some time ago that he and better resign from the committee. It is Known that Shaw some time ago that he had better resign from the committee. It is known that Benator Gorman desires to continue his control of the committee and hopes to keep Barnes Compton at its helm. The near approach of the time when the active work of the fall campaign must begin has brought affairs to a crisis.

It was stated today that Mr. Gorman had advised Mr. Compton not to resign, but to defy the president's well known wishes. The same advice was sent to other federal officials who happen to be members of the committee. Mr. Gorman is givened as saying: "You are now in office. You can't be removed except for good cause, and it is

Mr. Compton said today: "It has always been my intention since I was appointed naval officer by President Cleveland to resign the chairmanship of the democratic state central committee. I do not regard it as proper that I should discharge the duties of naval officer and also remain at the head of the committee. My resignation will be in Colonel Schley's hands before the fall campaign opens."

Colonel Schley is also ready to resign, but the other five members of the committee who hold federal offices show no inclination to have reached that condition of apathy and weariness that unfits it for any serious legislative business which is not connected with the final disposition of the tariff bill and the winding up of the long session. Today's sitting came to a close at 1:40 o'clock, and a part of the time had been given to the consideration of executive pusiness. Nothing of any public interest narked the brief legislative day.

Senators Yesterday. Washington, August 9.—The senate

The house bill to repeal in part and to limit a section of the Revised Statutes. under which bounty land warrants are refused to ex-soldiers of the Mexican war, who afterwards served in the confederate army, gave rise to some discussion. Mr. George, who moved to take the bill from the calendar, explained its purpose and said that it would apply to very few persons.

That view to the case was contradicted by Mr. Platt, who said that the bill would apply, not to a few, but to thousands of such old Mexican soldiers and their heirs. He expressed his surprise that there should be an attempt to take up measures and rush them through, in which all hoped would be the closing hours of the session. Those old Mexican soldiers had been treated generously. They had been given pensions even though they had not been sixty days in service and had never seen the enemy. This bill was simply to give them in addition land warrants which would be worth $200 in cash. He moved to postpone the bill till the first Monday in December next. #### A LIVELY DAY IN THE HOUSE. Speaker Crisp Makes Boutelle Sit Down-A Spat.

Washington, August 9.-The Hawanan uestion came to the front again in the most spirited and interesting portion of the proceedings. Mr. Boutelle raised it as a question of privilege. He repudiated the reported imputation that in introducing the resolutions recognizing the Ha-walian republic he had sought a partisan advantage the republican party, but that he was de sirous only of maintaining the honor and dignity of the government and of observing the unbroken traditions of the country and of congress. He criticized the failure of the committee on foreign affairs to act upon his resolutions and denounced the Hawaiian policy of the administration, especially the last act, which he described as the grudging, halting, secretive recognithe republic to Hawaii by president.

Mr. Boutelle arraigned the administration for its Hawaiian policy, and was re-ceiving the applause of his republican associates when Mr. Combs, democrat, or ground that he was speaking to a question of privilege.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the militia came up again and gave rise to a discussion in which the recent riots at Chicago were referred to. Mr. Fitnian democrat, of Illinois, criticised President Cleveland's order sending federal troops to Chicago.

Mr. Cannon, republican, of Illinois, said that no one would question the fact that in the enforcement of a state law, the power of the state authorities was plenary, and that the president would be regarded as an interloper unless he were requested to act by the governor or legislature. But in the recent troubles at Chicago, the situation was that the decrees of the United States courts were interfered with and the interstate law violated in its every section. When the president called out the federa troops to enforce the federal laws, the democrats said: "God bless him for his courage and fidelity;" and the republicans glad of an opportunity to commend a dem-ocratic executive for doing his duty, said

"If my colleague (Mr. Fithian) to make this an issue," said Mr. Cannon, "in the approaching election in our state, well and good. He will find the republicans standing by a democratic president for performing his sworn duty.'

Mr. Dunn, democrat, of New Jersey, op-posed the bill. He said the restrictions placed upon the use of the militia by the fathers of the country should be obs He deprecated the attempts of the federal government to grasp the power reserved to the states.

To a question of Mr. Hepburn, democrat, of Iowa, Mr. Dunn said he knew that the government had protected certain industries at the expense of others, and thereby violated the constitution. (Democratic applause.)

Mr. Fithian, demograt, of illinois, said he was not surprised at the position taken by Mr. Cannon. It was the same that had been taken by the republican party ever since it was organized. As to Governor Altgeld's action in the recent troubles, Mr. Fithian said it had been in exact accordance with that of every governor or the state, republican or democrat. The state, he declared, was able to maintain peace and order within its borders witnout the interference of federal troops or authorities. "I love peace and order," Mr. Fithian said, "but I also love the constitution and laws of research."

Mr. Fithian said, "but I also love the constitution and laws of my country; and I hate to see them violated by the president or anybody else."

The hour expired and, without action, the bill went over. The special order adopted yesterday was called up and the house, under it, proceded, in committee or the whole, to consider bills on the private calendar reported from the committee or Six were passed and the house, at 4:50 o'clock, adjourned until tomorrow.

A REPORT FROM BLUEFIELDS. Captain Summer Gives the Latest De velopments on the Mosquito Const. Washington, August 9.-The acting secretary of the navy received a dispatch today from Captain Sumner, commanding the Co-lumbia, which was telegraphed from New Orleans on the arrival of yesterday's steamorieans on the arrival of the control of the contro can ships and that men have also been landed from the British war vessels. The American force will be maintained ashore as long as affairs are unsettled. He says he does not anticipate any serious trouble, and seems to look for a speedy termination of the difficulty between the Nicaraindians and negroes on the other. The impression is gained by naval officers from the dispatch that the Nicaraguans, who have now concentrated a considerable force at Bluefields, will continue masters of the situation and that very little resistance will in future be offered by the supporters of Chief Clarence. It is thought likely that either the Marblehead or Columbia will be relieved from duty on the Mosquito coast in the course of a week or ten days.

COUNCILMEN INDICTED. Orleans Officers Charged with

Bribe Taking.

New Orleans, La., August 9.—This after-noon the grand jury came into court and presented three indictments in connection with the bribery charges against members of the city council. Two are against William J. Kane, chairman of the new courthouse and jail committee, and one is against Kane and Frank B. Thriffiley jointly. three indictments were brought on evidence given before the grand jury by Mr. P. B Ligon, and the alleged bribe taking was in connection with the new courthouse and jail affair. The action of the grand jury was expected, and, consequently, there was a good sized crowd in court when the pre sentments were made

The two indictments against Councilman Kane charge that at different periods he received from Mr. Ligon $250 and $50 for his influence in having an ordinance passed accepting work done by Mr. Orlopp, cor tractor for the new courthouse and jail. That against Kane and Thriffley jointly charges that they received $200 from Ligar for doing what they could to get an ord nance through the council approving the city engineer's acceptance of work done on the new jail building.

Dr. Drydon has been shipping commis-tioner of Baltimore for three years. About a year ago, Secretary Carlisie called for resignation but Mr. Drydon flatly red to resign, claiming that he had properly discharged his duties and the secretary had no power to remove him. HAD BEEN GIVEN UP AS DEAD.

An Old Soldier Reappears Among Friends and Suddenly Disappears. Jackson, Tenn., August 8.—(Special.)— James Rainey, of this county, who was supposed to have been dead and buried thir ty-one years ago, returned to his home last Saturday, and mysteriously disappeared again almost immediately. He was a young onfederate soldier in the sixtles, and enlisted in the Sixth Tennessee regiment when that gallant band went out. At the battle of Yazoo City, Miss., he was shot through the head and left for dead on the field. After the battle, when the duty of burying the dead came, his comrades looked for the remains of Jim, but he could never be found, though no one hoped that he had survived the desperate wound .. The news vas sent home that he had been killed in

The years rolled on and father and mother went to join the silent majority. Last Saturday Mrs. Cobb, an aunt of Rainey's, met a wan figure at her door begging for something to eat. The old lady was attracted to the stranger and she scrutinized him closely and recognized him. She called him by name. He started visibly, but stoutly denied his identity. He was pressed, and finally acknowledged his name. He had walked up accidentally upon his old aunt. He had a wild look, and with an effort seemed to gather his wandering reason sufficiently to ask about his mother and father and brothers and friends of his early life. He was told that in a little while his uncle would arrive, and that he should be driven over to his brother's, near by, but he exhibited much restlessness, and said that he would walk across the meadow to where he was told a cousin lived. Against where he was told a cousin hear. When you have the protests of his old aunt, who was overjoyed at seeing him, he started off alone.
This was the last seen or heard of him around there. A little while afterward some one went over to the house where he was supposed to have gone, but Jim had not been there. Men immediately began to scour the country, hoping to find him, but as yet no trace has been found of him. While at the Cobb residence he told the family that he had been in the penitentiary, but it is believed that he has spent the lon years in an asylum, having been demented by the effects of the shot in his head.

MOSES GETS THERE.

He Breaks the Deadlock on the 317th Ballot.

HARRIS COUNTY HELPS HIM WIN

For Two Days the Convention Balloted. In Accepting the Nomination Mr. Moses Declares for Free Coinage at 16 to 1.

Warm Springs, Ga., August 9 .- (Special.)-The hottest contest that the fourth district has known for a long while has just closed here. The deadlock in the congressional convention was broken just before 6 o'clock this afternoon by the Harris county delegation giving a fraction of their vote to Hon. Charles L. Moses. During the morning session Price Gilbert, of Columbus, offered a resolution endorsing the Chicago national platform and the state platform adopted in the Atlanta convention of August 2d. The resolution was passed. Then W. T. Revill, of Meriwether, offered three cheers for the democratic victory in Alabama and three cheers for Georgia's next governor, which were given with a

The balloting then began in earnest, At noon 259 ballots had been taken, and the vote stood. Stanford, of Harris, 16; Moses, of Coweta, 16. The convention then took a recess until 2:30 o'clock, and in that time a great deal of caucusing was done. When the convention was called to order again Cephus Bennon, of Harris, called Chairman brough from the chair. Mr. Kimbrough placed Morgan McMichael, of Muscogee, in his place. In a neat speech the gentleman from Harris placed in nomination T. H. m Harris placed that he did this for Kimbrough. He stated that he did this for the sake of harmony. This nomination was warmly seconded by C. E. Battle, of Muscogee, and W. C. Adamson, of Carroll, both of whom made ringing speeches. W. to the foundation of the moracle of

An Exciting Scene. Balloting was again resumed and when Maife ballots had been taken the result was: Kimbrough, 16; Moses, 16, and the deadlock was still on. A half hour's recess was taken to give the delegation time to confer and see if some compromise measure could not be agreed upon. When the convention embled again it was evident to every that a conclusion had been reached. C. Battle, in an impassioned speech, asked that the convention be adjourned until 8:30 o'clock, so as to give time to finish consultation. This was objected to by Hewlet Hall, the able leader of the Moses delegation, and for a time the fight was hot and bitter. Mr. Battle was seconded in his efforts for adjournment by the chairman of the Harris county delegation. There were clamors of "We are ready for the ballot." "Give us a chance to consult," and other exclamations. The First Break. Suddenly a bomb was exploded by C. R. Hudson, of Harris county, who arose and said: "Harris will give Moses one vote." This created the wildest excitement, and was added to when another delegate, J. F. Jenkins, arose and stated that there would be more than that.

The chairman of the delegation did not like this turn of affairs. Hot words filled the air and cheers rang for a few moments. When order was restored the Harris county delegates were allowed ten minutes in which to arrange their plans and get their vote in a position to present it to the convention. Every one knew that it was dead sure for Moses, and the spectators, the majority of whom were for him, together with the delegation, made the hall ring with shouts. During the ten minutes intervening both Battle and Gilbert, of Muscogee, who had made a vigorous anti-Moses fight, admitted defeat and made strong pleas for harmony in the party, and announced their allegiance to any candidate the convention might give them. The Harris county delegation returned, and, after order was restored, the chairman asked each delegation to hand in the name of their executive committeeman, which was done. The Last Ballot.

Then came the final ballot, 317. Harris county split, giving Moses one and three-fourth of her four votes and casting the other two and one-fourth for Kimbrough. Carroll stood firm and cast her four votes for Judge W. Harris, Meriwether doing the same Muscogee followed suit and cast its four the nomination was announced the roof was almost raised with the wild cheering and hats were thrown in the air. The admirers of Moses proceeded to the notel, where he was resting in his room, and, with shouts and yells, demanded to see him. It was an excited crowd that greeted his appearance on the balcony as he appeared among them, looking better than usual. He stated that he would have withdrawn in the interest of party harmony, but he had been given to understand that he was the second choice of a portion of the Harris delegation by nu merous citizens of Harris county, who had urged him to remain in the race. Among other things which he said was that he was always the friend of his constituents, and reference to the financial question, he instructions from my constituents to any measure that will compel the debtor class of the country to pay bigger dollars than they borrow. In other words, I am for the free colnage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, for which the democratic party has voted for thirty years."

The anti-Moses faction is feeling b'ue tonight and the majority of them have left for home tired out by the hard work they ne. The Moses delegates away jubilant.

to Rejection. Augusta, Ga., August 9.—(Special.)—Cotton merchants here have received a circular letter that is of much interest in this section of the country. It is a protest against the use of sugar sacks in the covering of cotton bales. The protest is signed by the treasurers of the leading cotton manufac-turing companies of New England and is turing companies of New England and is addressed to the president of the New York cotton exchange. The protest as a follows: "We, the treasurers of cotton manufacturing companies in New England, hereby enter our protest against the use of sugar sacks in the covering of cotton bales in the ctates growing cotton for the reason that being closer thun ordinary jute bagging, it takes water quicker, absorbs more, retains it longer and stains and damages the retains it longer and stains and damages the cotton immediately next to the covering much more than the jute. Any extra los to the mills from such covering would cause us to reject any cotton thus covered." The Augusta mills have also agreed to refuse to receive cotton baled in sugar sacks.

ABUNDANT SOUTHERN CROPS

Mean a Large Business for Southern Railroads-Review of The Record. Baltimore, August 9.-The Manufacturers

Record, in its weekly review of the business "Taken as a whole, southern crops will probably be larger this year than ever before. Of corn all reports say the crop is unprecedented. The outlook for cotton, based on acreage and present conditions, indicate a crop of from 8,000,000 to 9,000,000 bales. The smaller crops have nearly all gone well thus far, giving the south the full measure of abundant crops of all kinds. Necessarily this means a great traffic for southern railroads. southern railroads.

"The southern tendency of population adds to the strong position of the railroads. The reorganization of the Richmond Terminal properties into one combination, in advance of the completion of the reorganization of any of the other great systems now in the hands of receivers, emphasizes the favorable situation in the south. Spec-ulation, having nothing in the western railroad situation to feed upon, as short crops give little encouragement for much improvement in the near future, is more than likely to be turned to the southern securities. Southern railroads are already beginning to show some increase in earnings. This will become more pronounced within the next month or two. Under these circumstness we may look for a concentra-tion of public attention to the southern railroad affairs likely to start an upward movement which may even go too far.

"One of the noticeable features of the southern industrial situation is the tenden cy of northern and western capital to seek investment in timber lands. Recently large bodies of timber in West Virginia, Lousiana, Florida, North Carolina and other states have passed into the hands of western timber men, who will begin lumbering operations on a large scale, while negotiations are pending for many other

Good Attendance and Fine Racing at Jerome Park.

New York, August 9.-Today's card at Jerome Park race track was hardly an ideal one. It was not a heavy one in its original form and was only a skeleton when the scratchings were all made. The track was in perfect order, the weather fine and the attendance quite large. "The regulars" began the day successfully by backing Daily America to win in the first event, which he did in a canter. In the second race Southside went to the post a favorite but he Southside went to the post a favorite but he was easily beaten by Magnetism, colt, who was also liberally backed. Jordan, the favorite, captured the third race, due, however, more to Doggett's fouling Galloping King than to Jordan's speed. Cockade went to the front at once in the fourth race and won handily by three lengths. On the way to the post in the fifth race Monarch ran away and was withdrawn. McKee made a runaway race of it and won by fully fifteen lengths. Summaries:

this morning was somewhat threatening, but there was a large crowd at the track. The track was fast and the betting brisk. Old Dominion jumped out in the lead when the signal was given in the first race and with Chattanooga ran a pretty race to the finish, Old Dominion winning by a length.

In the second race, Ingomar and Yo Tambien set the pace to the turn for home. There Gloaming came up, and with Yo Tambien raced head and head into the stretch. Merry Monarch came dashing up at the last furlong, and, in a nard drive, won by a length. Yo Tambien finished a poor fourth, much to the disappointment of her backers. Prince of Monaco had an easy victory in the third race, as did also. Clifford in the fourth. In the fifth event Griffin landed the Memento colt first by a neck from La Rosa, who was only a head better than Tormentor. In the hurdle tace Bassanio led off to a good start, but after accomplishing three hurdles gave way to Colonel Clay, who came very fast on the flat. The latter was niver headed and won in a drive by a neck. Summaries:

First race, six furlongs, Old Dominion, 109, Midgely, 5 to 1, won: Chattanooga second, Dauntless third. Time, 1:16.

Second race, one and one-sixteenth miles, Merry Monarch, 109, Griffin, 5 to 3, won; Gloaming second, Liseig third. Time, 1:45.

WITH THE FARMERS

of an Agricultural Exhibit.

THE SOCIETY APPROVES THE IDEA

A Memorial Will Be Presented to the General Assembly on the Subject-The Next Meeting on Cumberland.

Carrollton, Ga., August 9 .- (Special.)-A convention of farmers has half a day's work done before a convention of city men would get settled down to business. This morning the agricultural society got to work about 9 o'clock. Colonel J. F. Fannin called the body to order. President Waddell was with the executive committee.

Captain E. P. Howell was introduced and he spoke in behalf of the Cotton States and International exposition.

Captain Howell said he hoped the society would memorialize the legislature in behalf of an agricultural exhibit at the exposition. The products of Georgia's farms should be so displayed at the exposition as to do credit to the state, he said. He spoke of what Georgia's farmers produce and how the farm products of this state com-pare with those of other states, excelling at almost every point. He felt that he would have the influence of the farmers,

From the exposition Captain Howell branched off on Georgia farming, immigra-tion and good roads. It is a good sign, said he, that the farmers of the state have taken to growing a greater diversity of crops. They need to keep it up. The speaker told a story of two farmers he met one day. It was in May. One remarked that he had finished planting corn, and asked his neighbor how he was getting on. "Oh, I never plant corn until June," was the reply.

"Why is that?" inquired the first farmer. "Well, by waitin' 'tel June I save two plowin's and a heap of gatherin'." Georgia now makes more money crops than any other state. The reason the Geor ia farmer is not more prosperous than he is is because he buys too many foreign made things to make his crop with. He buys his mule from Kentucky. He throws on it a set of harness made in Pennsylvania. His plow comes from Indiana, and the only thing that is made in Georgia is the furrow. Georgia is the only state in the union five more acres. On the subject of immigration Captain Howell said that it is more important to keep Georgians at home than to bring in people from the outside. There is no better place than Georgia. He said that there were times in every man's life when he is impelled to go away and see if there is a better place than home for making a liv-ing. The captain went all over this country once himself, and came back convinced that Georgia was the best place. Captain Howell advocated working con victs on the public roads. His speech was splendidly received. Every point made a hit.

Dr. H. C. White, of Athens, followed Captain Howell, and heartily endorsed ev-erything he said about the exposition and the desirability of having a fine agricultural exhibit there. On motion of Major G. M. Ryals, of Savannah, a committee of five was appointed to prepare a memorial to the general assembly.

On this committee the chairman appointed Major Ryals, J. M. Ogletree, of Oglethorpe;

W. O. Waddell, of Bibb; A. T. Holt, of Bibb, and T. J. Lyons, of Bartow. Later this committee made the following report: "Recognizing the great importance to be derived by the south by a proper exhibit of the material resources of the states of the south at the Cotton States and internation al exposition to be held in Atlanta, com-mencing October, 1895; therefore, be it "Resolved, That we recommend to the approaching session of the general assem that it make such an appropriation as can be constitutionally made to have a proper exhibition of the resources of the state of Georgia made through the agriultural department. The report was unanimously adopted.

Dr. White made an able address on the progress of Agriculture.

Mr. Ed Searcy, of Spalding, spoke for the removal of the agricultural college from Athens to the experimental station at Grif-

Judge Mark Newman, of Washington, of fered a resolution to that effect and urged that the agricultural college be removed from the literary college of the state to a place near the experimental station.

James Barrett, of Augusta, advocated it, saying that the farmers' sons were not given an equal chance with others to learn saying that the farmers' sons were not given an equal chance with others to learn.

Major Ryals, one of the directors of the experimental farm, spoke against the resolution. He answered Mr. Barrett by saying that he had been trying to get farmers' sons to Griffin, but they would not come.

Major R. E. Park, of Macon, spoke against the resolution, and on his motion, it was laid on the table.

The society proceeded to elect officers for the coming year.

Colonel John O. Waddell was re-elected president. Mr. Walter T. Arthur was elected general vice president. Dr. Sam Hope was re-elected secretary. J. Clayton Clements was elected treasurer and the following vice presidents were chosen: H. C. Kittles, R. F. Chittenden, J. H. Black, Roderick Leonard, A. J. Smith, T. S. Sharman, W. T. Barnard, J. H. Holland, George H. Jones, J. S. Johnson and T. J. Smith.

The following were selected members of the executive committee: G. S. Rountree, J. M. Howard, W. H. Felton, M. R. Russell, G. W. Lloyd, J. K. Eberhart, J. N. McClure, P. B. Walker and A. T. Putnam. Addresses were made by Dr. H. H. Carey, Colonel J. S. Newman, R. T. Redding, Dr. George T. Payne and J. Lindsay Johnson. W. O. Wadley and G. R. Kennedy spoke in behalf of the Dxie interstate fair.

The society will meet next August on Cumberland island.

Orleans Olympic Club.

St. Louis, Mo., August 9.—In a telegram to Willie Green, editor of The Star Sayings, today, President School, of the New Orleans Olympic Club, said: "The Olympic Club will give a $5.000 purse for Creedon and Fitzsimmons, at 168 pounds at the ringside, the contest to take place six weeks from date. Answer if Creedon accepts."

Creedon was found at Pope's theater and, without hesitation, promptly accepted the terms offered by President School.

Captain Evan Howell Speaks in Behalf | Colonel Charles H. Olmstead's Friends Do Not Know Where He Is.

HE WAS FORT PULASKI'S 'DEFENDER

A Gallent Soldier, a Refined, Courtly, Pur-Gentleman-Those Who Know Him Have Not Lost Faith in Him.

Savannah, Ga., August 9.-(Special.)-There have been no new developments in case of Colonel C. H. Olmstead, who left the city last week. It is reported that he became involved with some of the large estates of which he was in charge as guar dian or administrator, but in what manne or to what extent is not definitely known An effort is being made to arrange ter so that Colonel Olmstead may return to Savannah. The general belief is that he was induced to make investments with money belonging to these estates which unprofitable and that he was a vic tim not of his own making.

Colonel Olmstead is a native of Savannah, having been born there in 1837. Jonathan, his father, was of English descent and a native of Connecticut. He to Savannah in early life, where he married, and for many years engaged in the banking business.

The subject of this sketch graduated at the Georgia Military institute in 1856, and at the time of his graduation was adjutant of the corps of cadets. On leaving school he entered the mercantile house of Brigham, Kelly & Co., of Savannah, as a clerk. The excitement of the approaching war, however, arrested his business course, and, like many other young men of the day, he became greatly imbued with the military spirit. He was a member of the First volunteer regiment of Georgia and was appointed its adjutant in 1860 by Colonel A. R. Lawton, who was afterwards quartermaster general in the confederate service. He was at Fort Pulaski when it was seized by order of Governor Brown, January 3, 1861. In Command at Fort Pulaski.

The First regiment was reorganized in 1861 and mustered into the confederate service. Young Olmstead was elected mafor, and in December of the same year he was elected colonel of the regiment

Up to this time the regiment had been scattered to defend the various points along the Georgia coast. This became im practicable and the regiment was with drawn and garrisoned at Fort Pulaski under Colonel Olmstead. Tybee island wa seized by the federals the January follow ing, who commenced the erection of batteries with which to besiege the fort. By a clever maneuver the enemy entered the Savannah river above the fort and succeeded in cutting it off from all connections with Savannah. In this helpless state the garrison of 400 men, on April 10th, were confronted with eleven land batteric mounted by thirty-six, well protected, heavy Olmstead's Heroic Reply. General Gilmore, who was in command of the federals, sent an order tor the immediate surrender of the fort. With heroic patriotism Colonel Olmstead replied.

"I am here to defend the fort; not to sur-The bombardment of the fort then began and was kept up for a day and a hair, completely disabling every gun of the brave confederates except two. It was then seen that further resistance would be use-less and Colonel Olmstead gave the order for a surrender. He and his officers wer carried as prisoners to Johnson's island, where they were exchanged in September 1862. Wounded on July 22, 1864.

The First regiment was reorganized a month later and Colonel Olmstead again assumed command. In the spring of 1864 the regiment joined General Joseph E. Johnston's army in northern Georgia. From then on to the close of the war the First made a gallant record, suffering its first severe loss in the battle of Kenne saw mountain. During the sur 1864 the regiment was fighting all the time and at Smyrna church, Peachtree creek and in the battles around Atlanta it sus tained a heroic past.
On July 22, 1864, the day that General

Walker was killed, Colonel Olmstead was wounded. General Mercer was then assigned to duty elsewhere and Colonel Ulm stead assumed the command of his brigade as senior colonel. He continued in command until the fall of Atlanta, when he was succeeded by General J. Argyle Smith Colonel Olmstead was on detached service with the brigade under General N. B. Forrest, who was then approaching against Murfreesboro, at the time of the battle of Nashville. General Smith had succeeded to the command of the division and from then on to the close of the war Colonel Olmstead was in command of the brigade. After the defeat of Hood at Nashville the force under General Forrest made a forced march to rejoin Hood, reaching his army at Columbia, Tenn., from which point Smith's brigade formed a part of the rear guard of General Hood's retreating army to the Tennessee river.

After a short rest the remnant of the First regiment was consolidated with the Fifty-seventh and Sixty-third regiments, under the name of the First regiment, and placed under Colonel Olmstead's command. A short time thereafter it surrendered with Colonel Olmstead returned to Savannah after the war and became a partner in the shipping house of Brigham, Holst & Co.

He was made treasurer of the Citizens'

THE GATE CITY GUARD.

Will in All Probabilty Form an Independent Military Battalion. Atlanta is likely to have an independent battalion of infantry before long. It will be composed of the three companies now domiciled under the roof of the Gate City Guard armory, and will combine the military and social features to greater extent than has ever been known in the south.

The Gate City Guard is, as all of the friends and admirers of the company know, composed of three distinct associations. There is first the members who were in the company when it was called forth to de fend the south, and who fought throughout the war. Then there are the members who took up the organization after the war and carried the company for a long time, but who have since ceased to take any interest in active military work. Then there are those who are among the best and most active military boys in the city, and who are yet fond of a turn with the gun in a prize drill or any other kind of drill.

Only a few years ago the three elements were brought together and made into one organization. It was soon after that the trouble between the state and the company came about by which the company was made to relinquish its arms. Then the tie between the three divisions of the compary became warmer and the social feature was made larger and more interesting to every one who had ever worn a Gate City Guard uniform than it ever before. The senior or war members became the leaders of all the social features, and in this work they were most assiduously in this work they were most assiduously assisted by the post belium members. Both of these elements counseled the younger members to keep on in the good work and to remember that the company under whose banner they were enlisted had never been known to give up. At a recent meeting of the divisions some thing was said about forming the Guard into an independent battalion. The matter was quickly seized by all of the members and at once a lively interest was mani-fested. The more it was discussed the more it was thought advisable. One meeting after another was called for the purpose, and at the last meeting it was decided to

"You see," said one of the old members of the company, "we have determined to place the company where it will perpetuate the name forever. When the company was organized before the war it was one of the leading social elements of Atlanta, and along with the old volunteer firemen was among the attendants at all of the enter tainments. When the call for troops came tainments. When the call for troops came to defend the south the Gate City Guard was among the first companies to answer, and it went through the war without once showing that it was afraid of the most trying places. After the war the company came home with only a few of the men wi went out, and at first there was little thought of keeping up the organization. But in a short time the military spirit was revived and then the young men of the city became imbued with the military spirit. It was then that the company was reorganized, and the old soldiers of the war helped along for quite a while. Then after those boys had grown old and married they, begar to drop out and younger ones came in and went out, and at first there was little boys had grown old and married they begat to drop out and younger ones came in and took charge of the company. These are the ones now who are doing the drilling.

"Sometime ago representatives of the three elements came fogether and the rsult was the formation of the Gate City Guard Association. That association, as all of the friends of the company know, is composed of the men who went through the war, the men who made the company after the war and the men who are doing the active work. As an association we have detive work. As an association we have decided to form a battalion. That battalion will be independent of the state militia, but will be independent of the state militia, but will be ready to obey the orders of the gov-ernor at any time. We will form in three, each company being composed of the va-rious periods of service. The war members will have one of the handsomest and most attractive uniforms the city of Atlanta has ever seen. In fact they will all resemble officers' uniforms. The next oldest lot, the boys who took up the work after the war will have a uniform almost as pretty but or those who are now carrying on the work of the company, will wear still another uniform. And yet, while all of the uniforms will be different they will all be alike. The companies, when thrown together, will make the finest military display in this city, if not the finest in the south. We will try. not the finest in the south. We will try, however, to equip the younger members as well as to uniform them. The three companies will be officered the same as a battalion, and Colonel Albert Howell, who was with us during the war, will, in all probability, be the colonel of the battalion, just as soon as the organization is perfected."

The Result in Alabama

The result of the election in Alabama is far more gratifying than a democratic victory would be under ordinary circumstances, for it carries with it something more than an assurance that the party still retains control of our sis-

The election of the democratic ticket by an increased majority, as compared with the contest two years ago, is an evidence of the fact that the effort of ambitions men to disorganize the democratic party and to destroy its usefulness in the south has ceased to have any attractions for those who were depended on to give the third party its strength and respectability to the third party movement.

There is no more excuse for a third party than there was two years ago, but there are a hundred reasons now where there was one then why the people of the south who are opposed to the financial views that are popular in Wall street, and who desire to escape the bondage of the international gold trust, should stand shoulder to shoulder so that in unity of action they may give force and emphasis to their opposition. That is their only remedy. That is the only way out of the financial muddle that now exists.

The democratic party of Alabama took strong ground in behalf of all the reforms that the people are anxious to promote. They nominated a candidate for governor who was and is avowedly opposed to the financial theories of the administration. They unanimously endorsed John T. Morgan, the most earnest and intelligent advocate of free coinage in congress, and they put forth a platform on which the people can unite. The result is that thousands of democrats who strayed off from the fold two years ago, signalized their return to the party by voting for Colonel Oates.

As it is in Alabama so it will be in Georgia. The farmers in this state are thoughtful and conservative. They know they have nothing to lose by a democratic collapse here or elsewhere. Their common sense tells them that whatever failure to redeem the platform pledges there may have been is the result of a combination of circumstances which no party could foresee or forestall. They know that this failure is not due to any intention on the part of the organization to desert its principles or its practices. They know that every vote taken out of the democratic column is a vote in behalf of the republican party whose leaders are in the service and pay of the monopolists and trusts.

In short, the common sense of the people tells them that if the third party movement were to succeed in Georgia and every other state in the south, the republican party would be returned to power and the country would be as far from reform as it was twenty-five years ago.

The people can only carry out such reforms as they desire through the medium of a party organized and equipped for that purpose. When the instruments-the individuals-selected to carry out the purposes of a party fail to perform their duty, the remedy is not the destruction of the party-for that would add disaster to disappointmentbut the selection of new instruments, men who will pledge themselves to democratic principles without equivoca-

Those democrats who have nursed their disappointment to the point of disaffection will perceive the truth of this more and more as the campaign proceeds. There was never less excuse for breaking ranks in the democratic party than there is today.

Is It Another Snag?

Governor Flower, of New York, in an interview last Sunday said: "There is one plank which is going into the platform of the democratic party in this state this fall, if I have any influence, and that is a plank pledging that the democratic party will not touch the tariff again in twenty years." To those who have watched the evolution of the Wilson bill it is no news that it does not go to the full length toward tariff reform demanded by the Chicago platform. That instrument was sharply amended in open convention so as to declare all protection unconstitutional, and de to call a tariff for rever only. It is true that The New York Tim a day or two afterwards, annous that the plank would be kicked out of the platform, but it was deemed impos sible that so plain a party demand could be set aside by backroom methods.

When the Wilson bill was presented to the house, it was a matter of party disappointment that it recognized the principle of protection, and when the enate still further emasculated it, so that it looked like "McKipley bill, jr. there was and is, indignation among the democratic press and people. The bill was only bearable in view of the fact that it was a step in the right direction, and that future democratic legislation would strip it of its protection features, and make of it what the platform called for-a tariff for revenue only.

And now in view of the possibility that further legislation in the interest of the people will be blocked by a probable republican house of representatives to succeed the present one, we are put on warning by the eastern democracy that the tariff issue must be shelved for twenty years. No party has a right to postpone legislation to a congress which t may not control. For that reason the people expect every congress to complete its own work, and not count chick ens out of eggs which have not even been laid.

The eastern democracy secured the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act by an unfulfilled promise of substitute legislation. It has strangled the 10 per cent repeal plank. Through Governor Flower we are now informed that the contest for a tariff for revenue only is to be laid on the shelf for twenty years. If there is anything more in the democratic larder that the eastern democracy wants, it should call for it quickly.

The Silver Deluge Myth.

One of the arguments that the agents of the gold trust used to employ in their discussions with bimetallists was that the European governments were in possession of an immense stock of silver with which they proposed to deluge this country whenever our people undertook to open the mints to the free coinage of silver.

This argument has been wrapped up with a handful of camphor balls to keep the moths out and tucked away in the old-clothes chest, but in the early days of the discussion it played a very conspicuous part. Alex Stephens, when a member of congress took the bull by the horns and declared that nothing would be better for the people of 'the country than just such a silver deluge as the goldbugs predicted.

As a matter of course the argument had no more basis of fact than any of the arguments put forth by the gold monometallists. All fact and the world's experience are directly opposed to every contention they make. But it s worth while to note, even at this late day, how completely the argument of a silver deluge has been destroyed by the course of events.

If any European nation had silver to sell it would make haste to exchange it for gold. But, as a matter of fact, Europe has been buying our silver. During the fiscal year ending June 30th the United States exported silver bullion to the value of $50,000,000-more 80,000,000 ounces-more than 2,000 tons.

Now if Europe had or has silver to sell, why do the bullion dealers over there find it necessary to purchase more than 2,000 tons in the United States twelve months? It seems to us that if the governments of Europe have silver bullion to sell, they would supply the eastern and Asiatic demand with their own stuff, for silver bullion in Europe is no more valuable. ounce for ounce, than silver bullion in the United States.

Why, then, does the bulk of the demand for silver bullion fall on the United States product? Simply because Europe has no silver that is not legal tender silver, that is not used for purposes of circulation and bank reserves, and that is not as valuable as gold at a ratio of 151/2 to 1.

Away goes the European silver deluge

Lawlessness in the Republic.

A correspondent asks us what we think about the recent calling out of federal troops on the order of United States courts.

Well, we think this about it: that law lessness of whatsoever kind and by whomsoever originated must be put down, and that promptly. It cannot be put down by delays that have a quibble for their basis. In this republic lawlessness is intolerable because there never has been, and never can be, any excuse for it.

There are other thoughts suggested by the inquiry of our correspondent that will bear expression. First and foremost, no inhabitant of this republic can be said to be educated who does not understand and sympathize with the form of government under which he is living. It is the essence of simplicity and safety. In Europe, where various forms of tyranny and oppression prevail, we can understand and appreciate the motives that lead to outbreaks and revolts; we can understand the movements that are going on in the direction of democratic government; but in this republic, where the people rule, lawlessness in any shape or form is worse than inexcusable. It is an attack on the rights and privileges of the hum blest individual.

In a government controlled by a king or an emperor, a popular revolt is frequently a pleasing sign. It is always to be applauded when it has for its object the emancipation of the people. But in this country the people have won the control of their own Mberty, and they hold absolute sway. They choose their own rulers and they make their own laws, and there is no power and no party that can prevent them from having their own way provided they move with any degree of unanimity. Under these circumstances, any dis urbance of the peace, any violation of law and order on the part of any ele strikes are lawful. That is to say, any er of men have the right to quit work simultaneously or separately, but no number of men have the right to appeal to lawlessness as a remedy for their grievances. The remedy is to be found in our form of government and it is as ample and as prompt as any occasion can call for. In this republic, the humblest citizen has the right to make his power and influence felt at the hallot box. That is the remedy for bad laws and it is the fountainhead of good

The people themselves are the source of all laws. They have the power to make and unmake statutes. They have the power to place in office men who will conscientiously administer the laws, and they have the power to retire to private life any official who is obnoxious to them.

In brief, the people themselves are responsible for their condition in these United States. They are the source of power. Whatever is wrong they can undo, when the opportunity offers, in the twinkling of an eye; or they can continue the conditions that are obnoxlous by ignorantly applying their great nower at the ballot box.

But there is no excuse for lawlessness in this republic.

An extra policeman has been placed at the white house. Perhaps Mr. Cleveland is afraid that Vilas will break in and deliver his eulogy in person.

There is talk of another reduction of wages in the Fall River mills. The single gold standard is warranted to do its per fect work if you give it time.

If the third party carried every southern state, how much nearer to financial relief and tariff reform would the people be than they are today?

As congress has a conference in hand perhaps it would be well to organize an old-fashioned camp meeting and convert some of the rascals.

THE NEW PRIMARY PLAN.

Covington Enterprise: Judge Capers Dickson, of Covington, is entitled to the thanks of Georgia democrats for his untiring labors in working up a sentiment in favor of hav-ing all the counties select delegates to future state conventions on the same day The recent convention empowered the new xecutive committee to insist that this plan be adopted in every county in the state. Such policy will have the effect of prevent-ing the inuflence of one county on another in decisions at the ballot box. It will pre vent undue interference by one county with another in selection of candidates.

Gwinnett Herald: The action of the state convention in urging that all primaries for state officers shall hereafter be held on the day will meet the approval of the thinking men of the party. #### GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

The Brunswick Times has the following of olitical interest: "Judge Mershon and Judge Courtland Symmes, upon reading a paragraph in The Douglas Breeze, recently published, stating imor that they had joined the populists hastened to deny it, and declare they are as stanch democrats as ever. 'I have always been among the first in the field for dem racy in every campaign,' said Judge shon to a Times-Advertiser reporter this morning, 'and will work for the party in the pending campaign as earnestly as I always have worked when there was an enemy to be defeated.' Judge Symmes also strongly states his allegiance to democracy and denounces all rumors as to any change in his political convictions, Judge Mershon will open the campaign in this district with a speech in Coffee county this week."

The Georgia Cracker says editorially: "Among all the names mentioned for place on the supreme bench in the event of the adoption of the amendment providing for two additional judges none will be more favorably received than that of Major Joeph Ganahl, of Augusta. He was United States district attorney for Georgia, Buchanan's administration, and though prominent and active in the councils of his party, from that day to this, has neve asked public office. His election would hono and dignify the position."

The Georgia Cracker says of the nomina ion of Hon. Carter Tate: "All democrats are surely satisfied with a nomination against which no word of protest has been raised in any quarter. Mr Tate has remained at his post throughout the great contests in congress, and deserves the hearty and enthusiastic endorsemen which has been given him in an uncontest ed nomination for his second term.

Total, 21. We suppose that each coroner of these condidates has traveled 100. one of these candidates has traveled 10 miles. Then say that all of them together have traveled 2,100 miles. The average makes about 2,500 steps to the mile. 2.500 by 2.100 and we have 5.250,000, which represents the number of tracks made be the candidates who are running in the dem nts the number of tracks made by ocratic primary. This number of tracks, it made behind a plow, would cultivate for one season the largest plantation on the Chattahoochee river in Gwinnett county.

Editor Constitution-Let each ward have primaries on the same day and decide for hemselves who they wish to represent them in their respective ward, the man receiving the largest vote to be the choice of the ward. The practice of voting for all the ticket of the city often deprives the citizens of each ward of their choice. The fair way is to vote in each ward for your immediate candidate only, and not let the majority outside force candidates on you that do not receive a majority in their own ward. For alderman I would suggest that the first, second, third and seventh vote for alderman on the south side of the railroad and for the one on the north side let the fourth, fifth and sixth wards decide who they want. ## MAPPING IT OUT.

The State Campaign Committee Heid Its First Meeting Yesterday.

MR. BERNER IS CHAIRMAN OF IT

The Plans of Campaign Discussed-Speak. ers Are Even Now at Work, and Many More Are Expected in a Few Days.

The new campaign committee had its first meeting at campaign headquarters yesterday morning, and if the enthusiasn nanifested is an indication of the zeal with which the campaign is to be conducted, it is safe to predict that from start to finish it will be a brilliant one.

Chairman Clay is in the saddle. He has taken hold with energy characteristic of the man, and he seems to have imparted the same zeal and energy to everybody around him. His private office can easily be set down as the busiest place in Atlanta these days. Stenographers are kept busy replying to the letters received from all parts of the state and in the preparation of campaign material. Chairman Clay has any number of eallers and all day lyesterday was in consultation with promitient gentlemen from different parts of the state.

The Committee in Session

At 10 o'clock the new campaign committee got together for the first time. There were present a number of members from different parts of the state, but on account of the shortness of the notice, some were unable to get here. They had, however, written Chairman Clay, placing at his disposal their time and their services and explaining the reasons why they could not be present.

Chairman Clay called the meeting to order and in a few words explained its object. He then announced that he had appointed Hon. R. L. Berner, of Monroe, as chairman of the campaign committee and vice chairman of the state executive committee. The announcement was greeted with hearty applause and Mr. Berner was compelled to respond, which he did in a ringing speech, outlining what he conceived to be the work of the committee and referring to the bright outlook.

The selection is certainly an excellent one n every respect. Mr. Berner is one of the most brilliant young men in Georgia and he has had a good deal of valuable experience in campaign work. He will probably devote himself largely to work in the field and will do splendid service wherever he speaks in all parts of Georgia.

General Evans to take the Stump. Colonel Clay announced that he had reeived a letter from General Clement A. Evans stating that he, General Evans, placed himself at the disposal of the campalen committee and would be glad to do what service he could in the interest of the party and its nominees., It was a ringing etter, full of the true democratic spiritjust the sort of a letter that such a grand old democrat as General Evans would be expected to write. He explained in it that would be possible for him to deliver only a limited number of speeches, but for these he placed himself in the hands of Chairman

One of General Evans's dates is announce ed. He is to speak at Cartersville on the 18th, and Chairman Clay has assigned Hon. A. O. Bacon to speak there the same day. It is expected that this will be one of the grand rallies of the campaign. Not only Bartow, but all the surrounding countles will send their people to be present and naturally General Evans's appearance the stump will be the occasion of a great demonstration and a great deal of enthusi-

Only a few other dates have been an rounced, but there is a great demand for peakers and from now on the people of Georgia will be given an opportunity to hear On next Wednesday, the 16th, Hon. Joe

James will address the people of Jackson and surrounding counties at Jefferson. On the same day, the 16th, Hon. R. L. Berner and Hon. Dupont Guerry will be the speakers at a big rally to be held at Louisville. Jefferson county.

On the 22d Hon. Joe James will speak at Many Applications for Speakers. Every mail brings in a number of applications for speakers and Chairman Clay asks that all democrats who are willing to place themselves at the disposal of the committee, send their names to him at once.

He is anxious that there should be no delay in this because he does not want to disap-point any community where a speaker is Two party wheel horses, men who have done valiant service for the party in the past and are doing it now, were added to the campaign committee by Chairman Clay. They are Hon. W. A. Harris, the great democratic leader of Worth, and Hon. West Murphy, of Columbus. Both will make magnificent members of the committee and will #### add to its strength.

GEORGIA IN THE SADDLE. Thomasville Times: This will be an aggressive campaign on the part of the democrats and there will be no dallying with populistic ideas.

Dawson News: If Judge Hines had dropped in upon Atlanta and made a note of the way things went it might have convinced of the uselessness of wasting physical and mental energy by continuing campaign longer.

Georgia Cracker: It is only four or five days since the state convention adjourned and yet old Georgia is already ablaze with the light of the camp fires of the cratic hosts from Niekajack to the Savan-nah river, and from Rabun's heights to Tybee light. There is an armorea and fighting democrat behind every bush, and they seem to rise up out of the ground like flying ants after a summer shower. And the end is not yet. Butler Herald: The people of Georgia cannot afford to intrust the government o state to any but the democratic party. The democracy of this state comprises the wealth and intelligence of the state. While It is a fact that there are good and intel gent men, and men of wealh in the populist party, it is a fact that they are in a vast minority as compared with men of like char-acter in the democratic party.

THE TARIFF IN GEORGIA.

Macon Telegraph: We do not believe that the whole tariff bill, representing the effort of many years of the democratic party should be abandoned rather than permit the sugar trust to get more than it is entitled to. The bill should be passed in spite of this defect. What is to prevent congress, after the bill is passed, from passing another taking away from the trust the fruits of the expertion it is practicing when the senate? extortion it is practicing upon the senate?

Thomasville Times: O, the wearisomeness and heaviness of that tariff question. How long, O, Lord, how long shall Thy servants he made hewers of wood and carriers of the control of Market of the Control water on account of McKinleyism?

Darien Gazette: If congress will harry up and pass the tariff bill why all will be for-given and forgotten.

A Committee of Leading Men Left Last Night for Washington-The Status of Exposition Affairs There.

There seems to be danger ahead for the 200,000 appropriation to the Atlanta exposi-Telegrams received from Washington yes-

The fear may be unwarranted and the scare may end in nothing, but the directors have cause to feel somewhat uneasy on account of the telegrams alluded to above. A telegram from Senator Gordon was the first to arrive. In a brief message it conveyed the information that the conference to whom the appropriation bill was sub-matters were decidedly mixed. In view of the placid outlook which has hitherto faced the directors in the clear understanding that no difficulty was to be apprehended, the receipt of the telegram was in the nature of an explosion-a Lomb-shell unexpectedly thrown into the exposimitted was not able to agree, and that

Mr. Codier, the president of the expositien company, immediately on receipt of this communication, telegraphed to Sena-ters Gordon and Walsh and also to Speakters Gordon and water and the response to these telegrams were more reassuring. Senator Walsh telegraphed that Messrs. O'Neill and Cogswell were favorably disposed to the bill, and that Representative Sayre was not favorable to it. He saw no immediate danger to the appropriation, but out of abundant caution he ought it wise for a special committee to come on to Washington.

These telegrams furnish the subject matter of discussion for the executive commitof the board of directors yesterday af was agreed by all present that imme diate action was necessary, and the follow-ing committee was appointed to go on imfiately to Washingtan: President C. A. lier, Captain J. W. English, Captain E. Howell, Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, Mr. H. abaniss, Colonel W. A. Hemphill, Dr. D. Spalding and Mr. Frank P. Rice. Captain Howell, who was absent from the city at Carrollton, Ga., attending the State Agricultural Association, was telegraphed to meet the committee in Atlanta and to go with them to Washington. He reached the city at 8:50 o'clock last night and left at 9 with the other members of the party. The Situation as Viewed in Washing-

Washington, August 9 .- (Special.)-For the first time since the civil sundry bill passed the senate, the appropriation for the Cotton States and International exposition seems in danger. The deadlock between the two houses over many items in the bill still continues. The section authorizing the appropriation for the exposition has not been reached, so there has been no definite adverse action taken as vet. But Chairman Sayers insists that the senate amendment should come before the house as an independent proposition. Representative Livingston maintains that it will be perfectly legitimate to have the house act favorably upon it through its conferees and embody it in journal report of the conference, but Mr. Sayers persists and served notice on Colonel Livingston today that he must prepare himself to make a fight on the floor. This means a hard struggle for the measure before it passes. Mr. Sayers says he will not make any fight on it himself, but it must run the gauntlet. The great fear s that when it comes to the house it will take a quorum to pass it, and it is an exceedingly hard thing to get a quorum at

if Mr. Sayers persists it will take hard work to win out.

The bill, too, is threatened from another quarter when it comes into the house. Since the public building combination got knocked out yesterday, those who had bills planned to pass, are exceedingly serious and would like nothing better than to block other schemes. The friends of the exposition are fearful of the result, but hope to pull it through safely. A. W. B.

GOSSIP OF THE DAY.

Hon. J. B. McDuffle, of Pulaski county, who is a member of the state campaign committee, was in attendance upon the sessions of that body yesterday and brought magnificent reports from his county and section. "Everything is in excellent condition," said he, "and we feel no doubt but we will roll up a bigger majority for democracy this year than we did two years ago. There is no democratic disaffection in our part of the state, in fact, the disaffection is on the other side of the fence. We will, I believe, make many converts from the third party—that is, people who went off to them before, but who now see that the only hope to bring about the reforms they desire is through the democratic party. You can put down old Pulaski as stronger democratic than ever."

Hon. Ed Reagan, of Henry county, who represented his county so ably in the last legislature, and who has been renominated legislature, and who has been renominated by the democrats of Henry, came in from McDonough yesterday and spent a few hours. "I am very much encouraged at the outlook," said he, "and believe that the state will go democratic by a bigger majority than two years ago. I find in talking with people generally, that the populists are not as strong in many sections of the state as they were two years ago. I hear that there has been some increase in their memthere has been some increase in their mem-bership in the cities, but that it has fallen off in those sections of the state where they were stronger two years ago. You notice that was the condition over in Alabama. Oates gained where Kolb was strong before. The good, sensible people of Geor-gia and of the south realize that the only way to accomplish anything in the lines of the reform which they hope to see inaugu-rated is through the medium of the demo-cratic party, and I think very many of the solid farmers, who were lead off two years ago, see their mistake now and will not let Tom Watson and a few other office seekers fool them again."

Judge Dave Roberts, of Eastman, reports that everything looks favorable in his section of the state. He came up yesterday to tion of the state. He came up yesterday to attend a meeting of the campaign commit-tee, and to lend his counsel to the delibera-tions of that body. Judge Roberts is one of Georgia's veteran democrats, a man who has grown gray in the service of the party. His appointment on the committee was a very appropriate one, for he will be of great value to that body.

Captain John C. Hart, of Union Point, returned yesterday from Memphis and went on at once to his Greene county home.

Mr. J. N. C. Stockton, one of the leading bankers and most prominent citizens of Jacksonville, spent a few hours in the city yesterday.

Judge Allen Fort came up from Americus yesterday and is at the Kimball.

TO SPEAK TONIGHT.

Tom Watson and Judge Hines to Address the Public.

Great preparations are being made by the populists of Atlanta for the meeting at DeGive's opera house tonight.

Judge Hines and Tom Watson will address the meeting on the issues of the day. Neither Judge Hines nor Mr. Watson has ever delivered a campaign speech in Atlanta and no doubt a large crowd will be attracted to the opera house purely out of curiosity to hear them. Judge Hines has attained no little local fame as the opponent of "The Coweta Wagon Boy" for governor, and as that is to be all the glory he will get out of the campaign, he is making the most of is while it lasts.

Judge Hines, however, handles himself well in debate and for a man who is on a losing side is remarkably cheerful. He and Mr. Watson have just returned from a campaign tour through south Georgia, where they encountered mixed audiences and no indications of a democratic stampede into their party.

One of the largest elements in the judge's race is hope, and whether false or true, it has all the electrifying effects of a lot-tery ticket. He has the feelings of a man who has invested his dollar in a ticket. Judge Hines and Mr. Watson are both very anxious to make a good impression in Atlanta, and they will doubtless put forth their best stump efforts to accom-plish as much as possible in that direction. A special invitation has been issued stant surprises found in the adjusta platform of the populists may possibly reveal a woman's suffrage plank.

Be this as it may, Mr. Watson will find some of the laboring people in a huff. Their discontent dates back to the convention, when Mr. Watson ran his pen through a endation for the "eight-hour" lab law, which was unanimously incorporated in the platform of the party by the com-This circumstance has not been satisfactorily explained to the laboring people.

HOW THEY TAKE IT.

Atlanta's Voters Are Divided as to the City Ticket.

SOME GOSSIP ABOUT ANOTHER TICKET

No Objection Is Made to the Ability of the Gentlemen Suggested for the Various Municipal Offices,

That ticket for mayor, aldermen and councilmen put out by the assembly of gentlemen at the Chamber of Commerce night before last was the talk of the town vesterday.

Everywhere politics is talked the ticket was discussed and the action of the assembly in putting it out was criticised both favorably and adversely. In many places and by many of the best citizens in Atlanta the ticket was endorsed and the action of the gentlemen who presented that ticket was pronounced good and patriotic work.

But in other places and by just as good people the action of the assembly in naming a ticket was condemned and many of the gentlemen composing the ticket were more or less criticised. That there are two sides to every story and two clientages to every proposition in which the public has an in-terest was demonstrated more conclusively than ever before in Atlanta, especially in Atlanta politics. No one would assert that the ticket is not composed of the very best men, or rather that the very best men did not make the ticket, but to each one ken up. Beginning with the aldermanic suggestions the voters took the names all the way down and the comments made were to him. Dr. Turner, the suggestion from the north side, found many friends who were willing to go a full length on him, and, a willing to go a full length on him, and, at the same time, there appeared those who were opposed to him. Mr. Hirsch, who was named as the representative in the beard from the south side went through the same slide, and so did each of the gentlemen suggested for council. In all probability Colonel Hulsey was adversely talked about less than any one of the gentlemen named. His past service as mayor, and the younges mayor Atlanta ever had, together with the good work he has done as a member of the council, were recalled in every crowd that discussed the situation. The result was invariably on the good side for Colonel given a turn down now and then.

The ticket and the entire work of the assembly was naturally dissected by the people, many of whom had no knowledge of the meeting being contemplated. The fact that only a bare majority of the one hundred invited to be present responded was the theme for much comment. Those who talked on the line argued that all of those who had been invited and had not responded, were, of course, opposed to the movement and would oppose the gentlemen named by the fifty-eight who attended. But this was not found to be the case as many of those who had been invited and who did not come were found to be among the warmest admirers of the gentlemen

Much interest was manifested by all to know what stand Mr. King would take in connection with the matter. He had stated most positively a week before the meeting that he would not submit the ques-tion of his candidacy to any committee, and there was quite an anxiety to know what he would do with the flattering en-dorsement he had received. During the day it was rumored that he would repudiate the work of the assembly as far as he was concerned, and then again it was said that he was greatly pleased with what had been done. It was declared, too, that several of the gentlemen who had been suggested would decline to acknowledge the power and authority of the gentlemen to name them and would await a time more

Early in the morning Mr. King's headquarters in the Equitable building were be-sleged with callers. Some came to congratulate him on the fact that he was endorsed by the meeting, while others came to advise him to pay no attention to the action of the assembly, and others called to ask him to repudiate the support tendered him. To all of these Mr. King gave that same polite, pleasant attention, but during the same time he kept his own council and none but those who are nearest him and have been assisting him in his campaign knew aught of his thoughts till he made them known for the press.

was asked about the matter Mr. King said: "I have not received any official notification of the meeting of its action. All I know about it is what I have seen in the newspapers. The papers have told of the meeting and of the fact that my name had been suggested or recommended by these gentlement for mayor. It was wholly unsolicited or my part, but you may be assured that it was duly and highly appreciated."

"What will you do about it?" was asked. "I shall continue my campaign for the mayoralty and I hope that a primary will soon be ordered by the city executive committee at which the matter will be settled. I would like, too, that that primary should be as early as possible without being too early to interfere with other aspirants or to them a fair opportunity to come be-"What do you think of the ticket suggested by the assembly?" was asked of Mr.

"I think that the gentlemen named are good and worthy citizens and will doubt-less make good and acceptable aldermen and councilmen. Still, I think it is yet in order for any citizen who desires to become a candidate for either mayor, alderman or councilman, to do so or for others to recom other candidates for the various

That is just where Mr. King stands on the That is just where Mr. King stands on the action of the assembly. It does not interfere with his letter of last Sunday, and yet at the same time, it expresses in a manly way his appreciation of the confidence and faith the gentlemen of Atlanta, who composed that meeting, in him had. Before the ink was dry on the paper which announced to Dr. Turner the fact that he had been selected as the suggestion for alderman from the north side, he made for alderman from the north side, he made up his mind to decline. In fact, it is said that the doctor allowed an interview with an afternoon paper, or wrote a card de-clining to make the race, but later in the day he 'phoned that same paper to hold out the declination.

Captain Miller, the suggestion from the fourth ward, was said to be in the same position, but his friends declined to take any stock in the statement, saying that Captain Miller, like Dr. Turner, could not decline untif they had been officially notified by Judge Hillyer, chairman of the meeting, that he was the choice for the position indicated.

However, it may be said that there is every reason to believe that none of the every reason to believe that none of the gentlemen will decline to make the race to the primary.

It is said that Judg Hillyer and Secretary

Burgess Smith will, during the next forty-eight hours, notify the eight gentlemen of-ficially of the action at the Chamber of Commerce.

The presentation of the ticket to the public through the papers had the effect of showing up many aspirants for the positions, aspirants through themselves or through the kind services of friends who want them to serve the city.

On the south side, friends of Hon. O. Reneau and Hon. Mike Maher, both of whom have served in the council, were constantly busy pushing them for the aldermanic position, while the names of Mr. Forrest Adair and Hon. Harry Stockdell were talked of. The two named first reside in the first ward, the ward from which the alderman is to come by precedent. But the friends of the other two, one a resident of friends of the other two, one a resident of the second and the other of the seventh, declared that the law placing the aldermen by wards was an unwritten one and had no

On the north side the name of Hon. C. S. Northen was suggested for alderman, and many of the kindest things were said about the young man who made such a great record in the council three years ago. Mr, Northen, however, declined to say whether he would be in the race or not. The first ward showed an opposition to

Mr. Middlebrooks in the name of Mr. D. W. Green, Dr. Curtis and Mr. W. K. Booth were talked of, too, and so was Mr. Steve any one willing to wager the fight. Yet there were those who wanted some one else or rather did not want Mr. Hulsey. It was Dr. C. E. Murphey's friends who wanted to see Captain Miller have opposi-tion, but Dr. Murphey is one of Captain Miller's strongest admirers and would not oppose him. The name of Mr. L. B. Nelson was also talked, but as Mr. Nelson was one of the assembly that presented Captain Miller, he could not well enter the race. It is said that Mr. W. D. Smith will be in the race. Mr. George Sims, the suggestion from the fifth, was probably more talked about than any one of the gentlemen. It was due, too, largely to the fact that Mr. Sims is comparatively unknown in the city, although he has long been one of its most successful and devoted citizens. On every hand was an inquiry as to him, and those who were posted were not slow in showing that he is one of the best and most substantian of Atlanta's young business men, and that he has given many days' good, hard work to the interests of the city, without ever a thought of being reimbursed.

Opposition to Mr. Inman materialized in the name of Major S. Frank Warren, who will make the race from that ward. But all of these were suggestions and propositions made by people who are in-terested in the good and welfare of Atlanta and who are always ready to turn anything lown for the good of the city. The city executive committee of which Captain W. D .Ellis is chairman, will, in all probability, be called together within the next two weeks and then the gentle-men to whom the arrangement of coming campaigns were delegated a year ago, will decide about a primary or a committee of one hundred. In the meantime the names of the gentlemen who have been suggested ne gentlemen who have been suggested continue to be discussed by the voters of Atlanta.

CORN STILL ACTIVE.

The Better Feeling Is Extending to the Stock Exchange.

A SHARP ADVANCE THERE YESTERDAY

The Spot Demand for Cotton Continue Which Holds That Market Steady. Government Report Due Today.

NEW YORK, August 9.- The railway and miscellaneous market was strong and higher during the morning s ssion on a belief that the tariff conferees would reach a settlement shortly and report a bill to their respective houses. In addition the sterling exchange took a downward turn and post-ed rates were reduced to 487% and 489. Thiswas considered as meaning that gold ex-ports would stop for the season and con-tributed not a little to the strength of the share market. The grain markets had still less influence on stocks, and bull trades in the latter were confident that the damage alleged to have been sustained to corn wil not be borne out by the government report due tomorrow. The stocks most in demand were the Louisville and Nashville, the Grangers, Lead, Tobacco and others in which there is known to be a large short interest. Louisville and Nashville advanced interest. Louisville and Nashville advanced 2½ to 52½, Manhattan 2¾ to 118½, Western Union 1¾ to 88½, Cotton Oil 1¼ to 30¼, To-bacco 1¼ to 92¾, Lead 1¾ to 42, Big Four 1 to 38¼, Denver and Rio Grande preferred ¼ to 30%, Ontario and Western 1 to 165%, Union Pacific % to 9%. Toward midday the cent, the result of intimations from Wash-ington that the house conferees were standing out for further concessions including coal This induced some of the bulls to lighten their loads, but near the close, when Louisville and Nashville advanced to the top of the day, the whole market improved. In the Industrials Sugar first advanced 14 to 107, then receded to 105%, then rallied to Chicago Gas was weaker throughout and sold down 1½ to 744@74%. Lead, how-ey:r, was in request, and on unfavorable rumors scored an advance of about a point. The general market left off firm to strong and anywhere from ¼ to 2 per cent higher on the day. Chicago Gas lost % per cent.

From The New York Stockholder.

Interest will continue to center in the Grangers. There has been a change in their surroundings by reason of crop damage which cannot fail to influence their market course. Following their activity and de-cline on the opening of the week these stocks yesterday relapsed into dullness, but rallied on the covering of shorts. The general market was strong on the hope of tariff settlement.

News from the corn belt was bad, and there is not much hope of material better-ment in this regard. The street must ex-pect to get disastrous state reports and poor government reports, so far as corn is con-cerned, this month and next. Meanwhile it will be a pleasant diversion to turn from the west and its ruined corn fields to a tion of the country to which nature has

We mean the south. While corn has withered, cotton has flourished. While corn has had nothing but drought, the staple of the southern states has had rain when and where wanted. The one section of the cotton belt that needed rains at the close of last week was southern Texas, which got them Monday. Texas will probably related them Monday. Texas will probably raise its banner crop, or over 2,500,000 bales, while present indications are for the largest to-tal production on record.

It is, of course, too soon to estimate the total yield with the certainty that some total yield with the certainty that some circumstance will not arise to cause an adverse change in the situation. An early frost might do that. For picking, which has only just begun, will continue up to January of next year. However, present indications point to a crop exceeding that of 1891, which, as will be remembered, was the largest ever raised—9,035,000 bales. All this accounts for the gradual hardening of prices in the group of southern securities. Richmond Terminal, reorganized and on a new basis of fixed charges, is and on a new basis of fixed charges, benefited by the southern crop situation and the fact that that section of the country, as earnings show, has begun to recu-perate from its depression. Texas Pacific must be benefited for similar reasons—the fine crop prospect, and the fact that Texas has seen the worst of the hard times.

fine crop prospect, and the fact that Texas has seen the worst of the hard times.

Burlington was the active feature to the rallway list, and ended % higher on the day. The bulk of the buying was to covershorts. But the stock sold at 70, the lowest point yet reached, and there was in the crop accounts that which caused enough liquidation to enable bears to take profits without causing much recovery. Rock Island closed higher in sympathy with Burlington and for similar reasons.

St. Paul had a net gain of %, but was not active. The company's June statement shows a decrease in gross of $521,049, a reduction in expenses of $422,607 and a decrease of $98,442 in the net. Net earnings in twelve months decreased $816,817. The June statement of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis showed a decrease in net of $13,329 and a loss in surplus of $14,-544, the latter being reduced to $6,046. Delaware and Lackawamns in the quarter ended June 30th, decreased in the quarter ended June 30th, decreased $149,326. The most notable improvement in the earnings reported yesterday for the fourth week in July was an increase of $66,203 by Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Wednesday's Market Review.

Wednesday's Market Review. Dow, Jones News Co., New York, by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The announcement that an agreement had been reached in the tariff bill made the market Wednesday afternoon. The bulls said all day that the tariff settlement on any terms meant an improvement, and backed their judgment by liberal buying.

The shorts accepted the situation and bought freely of Burlington and Quincy and Rock Island.

The late dealings in Sugar were not understood, the feverishness of the stock apparently reflecting very conflicting news. The general theory was that the tariff news overshadowed crop news, and that a better market was probable for a few days, at least.

The bulls did not advise buying the Grangers, but predicted improvement in almost everything else. The short interest was smaller. There was returning of the Granger stocks in considerable amounts.

Early Morning GossipForeign and Domestic News Co., New York: The market was naturally strong in the morning session on account of reported tariff agreement, and there was buying for both accounts. In the last hour stocks began to react on advices from Washington that Cleveland had demanded that coal must also be put on the free list.

The continued drought in the corn belt also operated to prevent and advance in the ward march on local buying, despite sales for London.

Chicago Gas was sold on account of the announcement that the Mutual Fuel Com-pany had secured the Universal Gas char-

The selling of Sugar was of the character described as good. The proposed new sched-ule is not as favorable to the refiners as the old one.

Closing Stock Review. The stock market showed a firm under-tone in final dealings and commission houses had liberal buying orders in the Grangers, Western Union and some of the low-priced stocks. The brisk covering movement in the Grangers was continued, and the only additional short lines put out were in St. Paul to test the stamina of the new pool, in which Standard Oil interests are understood to be

Louisville and Nashville was heavy on a renewal of operations by the local pool, while Cammack brokers also closed a fair line of shorts at about the best prices of the day.

New York Central was bid up on the short interest, and there was also a moderate in-quiry for investment account. Lead and Missouri Pacific reacted on sales to take profits.

Foreign and Domestic News Co., New York: The strength and activity of Richard Terminal common attracted considerable attention Monday. A strong pool has been formed in this stock, and it has been quietly accumulating stock for some time.

There has also been much buving on account of the encouraging condition of business in the south. While reports of better business are heard from all parts of the country, in no section does trade approach the normal volume, except in the south.

The earnings of the new Southern railway are steadily increasing and the promise for large autumn earnings is made quite certain by the unusually good cotton crop in sight.

The new Southern railway 5 per cent consolidateds sold yesterday at 78½, an advance of a point over the quotations of last week. The Southern railway preferred stock was also in demand at 34½.

Atwood Violett & Co.'s Cotton Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox. Manager. NEW YORK. August 9.—English spinners are either very bare of stock or they are anticipating a demand for manufactured goods for reasons we mentioned yesterday, because sales there of 12,000 bales today at 1-16d advance and an improvement of 1-32d in futures shows a better feeling than is hardly justified by reports from this side about the crop, which still continue to be, with few exceptions, of a very favorable character. The improvement at one time today was 8 points, but the final closing is only 40% points better than yesterday. It looks as though the shippers of new cotton in Texas are holding back because of the depression in prices that has been brought about largely by pushing early shipments to market as rapidly as for the past few days. Houston receipts today were about 200, against 900 yesterday. The agricultural bureau report will be amnounced tomprrow. In July of last year it was 89.4 and in August it was 82.7 In August, 1892, it was 82.3. The average of last month was 89.6. It is anticipated tomorrow at least 91. It is thought, however, that outside of Texas there has been some deterioration since August its upon reports, to which date the bureau report of tomorrow will be based. Whether 91 minimum has been discounted by the recent decline will be known Atword Violett & Co.'s, Cotton Letter.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, August 9.—Summary of Hubbard, Price & Co.'s cotton letter: The improvement in Liverpool which began yesterday continued today with sales of coton to spinners well above the average and an advance in the arrival market of from 1-64 to 2-64d. The effect of this improvement abroad was to cause an advance in this market of some 9 points from yesterday, half of which was subsequently lost, as the demand was purely local and traders quickly supplied it, and then, acting on the good crop advices which are constantly coming to hand, sold freely, anticipating a further decline tomorrow. An active demand for the continent was reported by holders of cotton in the southern markets, as the receipts are not as large as had been expected by the trade. It is expected that the bureau report on the 10th will show the best condition of the crop for many years. The close of the market was steady at an improvement over the quotations made at noon and about 4 points over last evening. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Cotton Letter. improvement over the quotations made at noon and about 4 points over last evening. There appears nothing in the moment to bring about a sharp advance in cotton, but the opinion is that the pressure to sell for distant deliveries to Europe has fallen off.

Dry Goods Market.

Dry Goods Market.

From The Wall Street Journal.

The dry goods market was fairly active Tuesday and the aggregate of sales will reach a fair average. Local representatives of distant markets received liberal orders, and mail orders were improved. Considerable quantities of desirable heavy all-wool fabrics are being sold on spot, and a more general inquiry for later delivery characterizes the market. The city and near-by trade is largely represented, and while market prices have not advanced, they are firmer.

rmer. Buyers are generally ready to go ahead, but the obstruction of the tariff forces them to confine their operations to limited as-sortments, and only when requirements beto confine their operations to illmited assortments, and only when requirements become imperative.

Salesmen returning from the west report a better feeling in the markets. This is more true of the St. Louis market, which is moving goods with more freedom and over a wider territory than heretofore.

Commission men who handle cottons say that sales last month were 39.46 per cent over those of July, 1893.

Fall River special to The Wall Street Journal: Notices were posted in the mills Tuesday announcing the proposed reduction in wages of weavers from 18 to 16 cents a cut. and of spinners 10 per cent.

This is the most important turn that affairs have taken for some time, as it was believed that the manufacturers would warehouse their stocks at 1-16 c per year rather than concede the demands of the converters, finishers and printers, but lately the price broke to 29-16 c. which is the lowest price known for sixty-four squares. Also it was supposed that the mills would continue to operate at a loss for the time being and regain losses through the cheapness of raw cotton and a prophesied demand during the fall and winter months.

being and regain losses through the cheap-ness of raw cotton and a prophesied de-mand during the fall and winter months. The stocks held at Fall River. Providence and elsewhere are now equal to 1.300.000 pieces, of which over 1,000.000 pieces are sixty-four squares. Comparing the stacks they show an increase of from 80 to 100 per cent over any year since 1889. What the next step will be is a matter which is awaited with much concern. awaited with much concern.

About 25.000 mill hands are affected by the reduction in wages.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, August 9.—Many of the de-serters from the wheat crowd were again in that market today, corn not monopolizing the entire attention of the spiculative element. Although there was more busi ness in wheat and less in corn, the former was, nevertheless, taking its cue from the latter. The Cincinnati Price Current in its summary reminded the trade that the situation was dependent to a great extent on the corn conditions, inasmuch as what was being put to the uses that corn was generally intended for. September wheat opened from 56%c to 65%c, sold between 55%c and 57%c, closing at 56%c65%. Cash wheat was in good demand, sales averaging ½c higher than yesterday. A slightly easier impression existed near the close on talk of the large shipments of wheat form Talkets. large shipments of wheat from Toledo to Chicago, it being reported that vessel room had been engaged.

Corn-For about five minutes after the opening it looked as though the panic in corn was not yet over. Prices were irregu-lar and flactuations were quick with a strong up ward tendency. The country had no rain and it was quite plain that comno rain and it was quite plain that commission houses had orders to buy from all directions. May was the favored option, a marked avoidance of September being roticeabl. Quiet was soon restored, however, but prices held strong throughout the day.
The near approach of the government report had some influence in restricting business, most people preferring to wait its issuance before committing themselves to either side. The strength during the morning was made more emphatic by the predictions of continued dry weather in Iowa and Nebraska. September corn "pened yesterday.

Provisions were easy early and firmer during the latter portion of the session. Packers were the principal sellers, although the trade was limited. The firmness in corn made itself felt in products before the close, prices selling higher and closing 5c above yesterday for September pork and ribs and 2½c higher for September lard. Cables were firm and outside domestic mar-

By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. CHICAGO, August 9.-Wheat was strong at the opening with light offerings and good general buying, and reacted some on realizing and the easy feeling in foreign cables. Liverpool was ½d lower. Outside markets were stronger than this. Regard-less of this there is report of 195,000 bushels of Toledo wheat chartered for Chicago. There was 80,000 bushels chartered yesterday, but not reported. Primary recepts were 867,000 bushels, against 506,000 bushels same day last year. Total clearances of wheat and flour about 300,000 bushels. Local recepts were ten every every the estimates the estimate of the estimate when the estimate were every every the estimate the estimate when the estimate were every every the estimate when the estimate were every ever cal receipts were ten cars over the esti mate, which was 460 cars. Private cable from New York report easier foreign mar cal receipts were ten cars over the estimate, which was 460 cars. Private cables from New York report easier foreign markets, bringing some buying orders. Later on covering by a large noted short seller and country buying, coupled with the late strength in crn, the market irrmed up some. The closing was steady at about opening figures. Cash wheat was strong and higher at 56c for No. 2 spring. The market acts as though the top had been reached for the present, and we do not look for any further advance just now.

Corn-Fluctuations were again wild at the opening. As yet there is no rain in sight or predicted by the weather bureau. The market, however, was not feverish as for the past two days, though trading at times was somewhat rapid. There was a lot of small buying orders at the opening, but the market eased off some on realizing. It steadied up, however, later on, no relief being promised by the local forecast to the drought. The government report tomorrow will give the condition of corn and spring wheat. A condition of 70 on corn will suggest a yield of 1,540,000 bushels, and 75 a yield of 1,652,000 bushels. Local receipts 125 cars, against 150 estimated. The closing was firm at an advance or 1c to 1½c from the low point.

Oats were again somewhat heavy. The changes in corn apparently had no effect on them, prices remaining nominal the entire session, what little demand there was being well met by liberal offerings. Clearances, 13,000 bushels.

Provisions opened weak at about yesterday's close for speculative futures. The advance yesterday has checked to a certain extent cash business.

Views of a Railroad Official on the Corn Crop. Foreign and Domestic News Company,

Foreign and Domestic News Company, New York: "Too much attention should not be paid to the price of September corn, as an indication of the condition of the corn crop," said a railroad official connected with a corn-carrying road.

"There has been a strong Chicago bull pool working in September corn for some time. The corn crop last year was not larce, and the floating supply was well absorbed during the year. September corn would have advanced whether the corn crop was damaged or not, and the pool was organized before any one could anticipate the dry and hot weather in order to take advantage of the light supply available for delivery in September.

dry and hot weather in order to take advantage of the light supply available for delivery in September.

"Not a bushel of new corn is delivered in September, as the new corn does not come until November to any appreciable extent. The corn for the later deliveries naturally follows and advance in the September option, but you will see May and September corn steadily widening in price.

"I will not give up the corn crop until the middle of August, and if we have any rainfall in the next ten days Lam positive that we will have at least a normal "orn crop, with the chances in favor of a larger crop than last year. It must not be forgotten that the acreage of corn is much lerg r than it was last year, and that there is a wider margin for damage than would have been comfortable in any preceding year except 1891.

"Then there has been no damage to any extent in the region east of the Mississipping them."

"Then there has been no damage to any extent in the region east of the lississippi river. The dry, hot weather also will cause the corn to come quickly to maturity and avert any danger from an early frost, which is more likely to ruin corn in the rolls in September than hot, dry weather is to injure it in July and August."

Nathan L. Irwin, a Mechanic, Died Worth Several Thousand Dollars.

SOME WAS FOUND IN A TOOLCHEST

The Disappearance o' Contractor Brown Is Called to Mind-Various Suits
Filed Yesterday.

Back of the appointment of W. H. H.

Price as temporary administrator of the estate of Nathan L. Irwin by Ordinary Calhoun several days ago there is a story involving the finding of more than $3,000 in gold and nearly $500 in gold certificates. This money composed nearly the entire estate of Mr. Irwin, who was stricken with paralysis more than a month ago and died in July, after a short illness, during which he received every attention possible which he received every attention possible from his friends and competent physicians. Mr. Irwin had been for many years con-nected with the East Tennessee shops as one of the most competent mechanics in it and one of the most faithful. While he was an industrious and hard working fellow, an industrious no one ever supposed for an instant that he had managed to save up the amount which afterwards developed as having been in his possession. Irwin had no relatives in in his possession. Irwin had no relatives in Atlanta and was an unmarried man. At the shops he was generally liked and had many to the latter part of June he was friends. In the latter part of June he was stricken with paralysis in such a form as to render him unable to talk. He lingered for some time, but was never able to articulate and could only make his wants known ulate and could only make his wants known by means of feeble signs.

During the latter part of his illness, when it became certain that he could not live and that the last chance of his recovery was gone, he was told of it. He then began to indicate that he wanted something looked after and made his wishes known to Mr.

W. H. H. Price, the foreman of the East Tennessee shops, who was with him at the time. He tried to indicate that he had the time. He tried to indicate that he had and that the same thing was in his tool chest. After his death Mr. Price looked through the clothes and found $368 in gold certificates. Rewarded thus far by his search, he prosecuted it with renewed en-ergy and found in Irwin's chest the sum of $310 in gold coin. He also examined into the trunk of the dead man and found safe-ly stored away in the bottom of it the sum

Of all this Foreman Price took charge and rendered a strict account to Ordinary Calhoun, at the same time applying for letters of stemporary administratorship. These were granted by Ordinary Calhoun on Tuesday and the estate of Irwin given into Administrator Prices's charge.

The heirs to the estate live in Pennsylvania and the administrator will try to find

Judge Calhoun as Master in Chancers. suit of Willingham et al. against Brown, which involves very nearly a full $100,000, was in hearing yesterday before Judge Andy Calhoun in the superior courtroom, the recorder presiding by the right vested in him as special master in Tax Collector Andy Stewart is receiver of Brown's affairs, and, acting for him, is defendant in the suit. The whereabouts of Brown are still unknown, and it is hardly probable that he will return unless there is a very satisfactory settlement made.

It was several years ago that Brown came from Chicago in the interest of a syndicate, said to have been formed there for the purpose of booming real estate in the vicinity of Atlanta. He went to work and erected about two dozen houses, which he placed upon the market on the installment plan. There were workmen left unpaid, as well as various and sundry costs is that in regard to the property of the liens and upon these Judge Calhoun will have to make a report. All Sorts of Suits.

A suit for $2,000 damages was filed yester-day by Camilla Dunman against the At-lanta Traction Company. She alleges that while she was riding on a traction com-pany car on the 28th of July she became frightened at the close proximity of another car and jumped to avoid getting crushed in what she though was sure to be a collision. She alleges that the injuries that ensued are exceedingly dangerout and damaging to her physical condition.

Mrs. Kate Baum filed a suit yesterday for $10,000 against the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. She alleges that the company owes her this amount on a policy held by Max Baum.

Mrs. E. Ray has filed a suit for a di-vorce from her husband, C. W. Ray. She alleges cruel treatment and desertion. They were married in 1884 and lived together

HOT SHOT FOR THE POPS. Colonel Joe James Delivers a Warm

Speech at Fairbura. Hon, Joseph S. James fired the first polit-Ical gun into the ranks of the populists of Campbell county, at Fairburn, yesterday. Colonel James had been reared in this county and much interest centered upon his visit, aside from that felt in politics.

Visit, aside from that felt in politics.

"The populists are in favor of centralization," said Mr. James. "They want everything, it would seem, to belong to the government of the United States—people and all—body and soul. They want you to ten over the railroads to Uncle Sam and allow him to manage the telegraph lines of the him to manage the telegraph lines of the land. This idea is decidedly populistic. All good governments makes the people of the country independent and not dependent what about Hines, the man who is expected by the populists to lead them to victory in October? Look at him, turn him over, examine him closely and let's see it he is all right. When the alliance people met at Ocala, Fla., and passed the Ocala platform, Mr. Hines was then judge of the superior court. He then denounced this platform in the very strongest terms, especially the subtreasury plank in ft, which was considered by the populists or the alliance as the backbone of the whole carcass. In less time than one year from that date he swallowed the whole thing, bones, hide and all, and managed to gulp down the subtreasury plank. In doing this, he tried his utmost to beat General Gordon, grand, patriotic, living hero of the south, for the senate. The judge-made so by the constant of the senate. beat General Gordon, grand, patriotic, living hero of the south, for the senate. The judge—made so by the democrats—has had a great deal to say about the defeat of General Evans—grand, noble, brave, true, patriotic, soldier in time of war and loyal, honorable, fearless, gallant hero—a good citizen—stand-ling up for the principles which promises to this country that relief which can only come through the administration of democracy. Judge Hines claims that General Evans was defeated because he was a confederate soldier. I suppose he has forgotten the time when he tried his level best to defeat Genral Gordon—a confederate soldier."

He discussed the populist platform and completely riddled their record in congress, throwing at the same time a flash light upon the principles as set forth by Watson and Hines in Georgia.

Mr. James said: "If the railroads, tele-Braphs, telephones and all their equipments were purchased by the United States it would cost over $11,000,000,000, which is more than the entire money of every description in the world. He showed by the consuls' reports of the United States in foreign countries that the railroads operated by the governments were carried on at a great loss to the government and that the people had to be taxed to run them. In 1892, Canadal had to pay $800,000 over and above above had to be taxed to run them. In 1892, Canada had to pay $600,000 over and above all expenses, for 'operating fifteen hundred miles of railroad; that France had totally abandoned national ownership of railroads in 1883, because it was expensive to operate them and had sold a part of its lines at a great loss. Watson contended in his Atlanta speech that freight and passenger rates in countries where the railroads were controlled by the government were cheaper than within the United States."

Mr. James said that this was not true and showed that it was not so by reference than within the United States."

Mr. James said that this was not true and showed that it was not so by reference to the reports of consuls in these different countries and demonstrated beyond question that the freight and passenger rate in the United States today is far cheaper than in any country where the government runs the roads. Without a single exception almost, where the government operates railmost, where the government operates rail-roads it is done at a great national loss and taxation. We want to control the railand taxation. We want to control the railroads in the United States by proper legislation under our state and federal commissions. It is wild, dangerous and hazardous to the government of the United States to think of placing a debt upon it amounting to more than $11,000,000,000. The entire bonded indebtedness of the United States of every description since the formation of this government as an independent sovereignty is but a little over $10,000,000,000. Watson and Hines would put on the government at one time a greater debt than the enat one time a greater debt than the en-tire bonded indebtedness from the founda-tion of the government up to the present time. Watson's statements on the stump, through the press and everywhere are sen-sational, and are not founded on history. He sets his ideas from some populist and sational, and are not founded on history. He gets his ideas from some populist and is guilty of plagiarism. I can show that this is true by comparison of articles written by other populists. His ideas do not come from the official records of the country. He gets his notions from inferior writers and authors of low character. He does not go to the highest point to prove his assertions. He dodges the official records entirely. I defy him to stand on the records of the country, the truth of history, and sustain his position.

Whidby, one of the delegates from DeKalb county. He declared himself well satisfied with the convention and its work.

The attendance was nearly as large as usual and the members of the convention were never more harmonious or in better working trim. The people of Carrollton ex-tended them a royal welcome. The re-elec-tion of President Waddell and Secretary Hope he considered a just tribute to their energetic and intelligent efforts in behalf of

The convention heartily endorsed the Cotton States and International exposition and appointed an able committee to memorial-ize the legislature to make an appropriation for an exhibit of the resources of lieorgia through the commissioner of agriculture There was not a dissenting voice. The speech of Colonel E. P. Howell in behalf of the development and progress of Georgia was eloquent and "caught the convention."

A movement was made to induce the convention to memorialize the legislature to remove the State college of agriculture from Athens to Griffin. After a magnetic speech by Major G. M. Ryals and a solid talk by Colonel R. E. Park, the movement was tabled by an overwhelming majority. The convention has changed its meeting from semi-annual to annual, and it will meet hereafter in the second Friday in August. The session will be four days. Theories.

As a matter of fact the silver dime is the great American coin. It is thoroughly democratic in its character, pressing all palms in its circulating travels, visiting the palace and the hut, the saint and the sinner, the rich and poor, the young and old.

It has a thousand times the carrying powers of its big brother, the silver dollar, and goes on its way serenely, indifferent to politicians and congress, for it is too small to set the oratorical mills grinding. The catalogue of results obtained by the dime as an active factor is a long one and contains an astonishing variety. But the most amazing thing which can be accomplished by the nimble, agile 10-cent plece is the purchase of an entire library.

Ten cents a day will do it. The price of a good smoke or a couple of packages of the cents a day will do it. The price of a good smoke or a couple of packages of the cents of twenty-four hours will give our readers the entire set of twenty-eight volumes of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. It seems too absurb to be true, but we have made that proposition to any and all of our friends. We offer to furnish the new Britannica, that splendid reference library never equaled by any other work since the first edition appeared over a century ago, for 10 cents a day. any other work since the first edition ap-peared over a century ago, for 10 cents a day.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECAST

After the long spell of cool, cloudy and rainy weather which prevailed last month and extended into this month up to three days ago, the present fair and warm weather is indeed an agreeable change and will prove a blessing to crops throughout Georgia.

Yesterday's temperature in Atlanta was quite high, and high temperatures were around the great lakes. At Buffalo the maximum temperature was but 68 degrees.

At Fort Smith, Ark., the highest temperature was reported—98 degrees.

No heavy rains were reported yesterday

LITIGATION BEGUN.

Secure a Restraining Order.

DIRECTED AGAINST THE SOUTHERN

Allegations That Involve Valuable Rights of Way Are Made-This Is Only the Beginning.

For several days the Southern railway making surveys of the ground surrounding the union depot and getting everything in preparation to make a coup that would startle the Western and Atlantic, but a stop was put to all these proceedings yesterda morning through a petition filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court. Attached to the petition was an order signed on the 8th instant by Judge S. W. Harris, restraining the Southern railway and others from taking further steps towards consummating what the petition assumed was the object of defendants in making the survey and getting together a lot of material. The order and petition was served yesterday upon all the defendants or their representatives in every case except that of W. P. Beautyle. that of W. P. Beauprie, as superintendent of the western system of the Southern railway.

some time extensive litigation regarding the Western and Atlantic right of way has been threatened and at the sale of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road at Knoxville, Colonel W. A. Wimbish open-ly announced that he intended to begin litigation to gain possession of the property and right of way of the Western and At-lantic road both in Atlanta and Chattanooga. He has been at work for some time investigating the rights of the state in this direction and some days ago made an elaborate and exhaustive report upon this same line. According to those interested in the litigation it is easy to assume that the Western and Atlantic hopes to soon be in entire possession of a great deal of right of way now held by other roads.

According to the petition it would appear that the South rn railway was trying to connect the existing main line of the Georgia Pacific with the track of the belt line, which is a branch of this same road. The Western and Atlantic people claim that this would do them untold injury and that be-fore all this the Georgia Pacific has no right to make this connection and a restraining order was, therefore, grayed for

There will be other suits .nvolving the right of way used by other roads and claimed by the state of Georgia for the Western and Atlantic, and the attorney for the state, Colonel W. A. Wimbish, will push the litigation aided by Messrs. Payne & Tye, attorneys for the Western and Atlantic Railway Company. If the State road is successful it will cause lots of inconveence to the other roads now enjoying alleged usurped privileges.

The suit filed yesterday morning reads: "The state of Georgia, as owner of the Western and Atlantic railroad, and the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, as lessee of the said railroad, against Samuel Spencer, Frederick Huidekoper and Reuben Foster, as receivers of the Georgia Pacific Railway Company; W. R. Beauprie, as su-perintendent of the western system of the Southern railway (formerly the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad), stationed at Atlanta, and J. A. Dodson, as superintendent of the eastern system of the Southern railway (formerly the Richmond and Danville railroad), stationed at At-

Allegations Set Forward by Plaintiffs. The following are the allegations made as stated in the petition:

"That the state of Georgia is the owner of the Western and Atlantic railroad, its rights, ways and properties, including a right of way sixty-six feet in width over and upon land lot No. 150, in the seventeenth district of originally Heary, now Fulton county, Georgia, over and upon which it has caused to be onstructed and maintained a portion of the main line of said Western and Atlantic railroad, title to said right of way having been acquired by purchase and conveyance from Wesley Hud-son and the 19th of May, 1838.

"That the West'rn and Atlantic Railroad Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the state of Georgia, and is the less e of and from the state of Georgia of the Western and Atlantic railroad, its rights, ways and properties, for a term not yet expired, to-wit: For a term of twinty-nine years from and after the 27th day of December, 1890, and as such lessee is now maintaining and operating said railroad of which, its rights, ways and properties, it is entitled in virtue of such

"That the defendants herein named, their servants and agents, are conspiring and threatening forthwith, clandestinely and without right or authority, to lay and con-struct a crossing over and upon the right of way and tracks of the said Western and Atlantic railroad at a point in said land lot, No. 150, or at some other point in said county of Fulton, for the purpose of connecting the existing main line of the Georgia Pacific Railway Company with the track of a branch road of said Georgia Pacific company, known as the Belt rail-road; that the said defendants, their servants and agents, have provided labor and material and have made all necessary preparations to be edily lay said crossing in the night time or at the first favorable opportunity; that the danger of their doing so is imminent, and that unless restrained by the order of this honorable court, they will forthwith proceed to lay said crossing, clandestinely, illegally and by force and

Petitioners further show that the de ter upon the right of way of said Western and Atlantic railroad for the purpose of laying said crossing; that no right to do so is claimed by the defendants, or either of them, as receivers of the Georgia Pacific Railway Company, or in right of the Southern Railway Company, or otherwise; That said right of way has never been condemned or sought to be condemned, nor has the consent of petitioners been sought."

Paragraph four declares that the laying of this crossing will occasion irreparable injury and damage both to the leasehold and freehold estates.

Paragraph five closes with the various prayers of petitioners as follows:

"That defendants be restrained and en-joined from building this connecting link; that a temporary restraining order may issue at once; that a rule nisi requiring said defendants to show cause why the in-junction should not issue; and that process requiring defendants to appear at the next term of the superior court may issue." The petition is signed by Messrs. Payne & Tye as attorneys for the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, and W. A. Wimbish, as attorney for the state. The facts are sworn to by J. L. McCullom.

Judge Harris in signing the restraining order set it for hearing on September 8th, before Judge Lumpkin.

A Rumor Connected with His Coming Mr. Stahlman Still in C' icago-Other Railway News.

President Samuel Spencer is scheduled to

He is coming to look over the lines now under his control for the first time since the reorganization. He will take a lo the East Tennessee and branches, the Georgia Pacific and his visit may possibly possess some significance as regards the probable segmentative. sess some significance as regardable acquisition of the Central to the great of course President Spencer will take a look at the railway situation as it is presomed from the Atlanta point of view and something important may grow out of his visit. There has been rumors of the inten-tion of the Southern to build a grand cen-tral depot in Atlanta, and it has been suggested that Mr. Spencer's visit might poss bly have some bearing upon that project. However that is all in the air and anything concerning such a rumor is the merest

It will be Mr. Spencer's first visit to At lanta since the reorganization has been effected, and it will be an event of exceptional interest to local railroad men. He has postponed his trip until such cccasion as he could have ample time to take a good look at railway matters in Atlanta.

All eyes are now upon the president of the Southern, and his every movement is watch-ed with peculiar interest. By virtue of his position at the head of a great system like the Southern, which in time may be the greatest in the world, he is one of the most important railroad men in the country.

It Will Be Commissioner Stahlman There is little doubt but that Hon. E. B. Stahlman will succeed himself as commissioner of the Southern Railway and Steam-ship Association—that is if he will accept the position again.

His pre-eminent ability is widely recog-nized by the railroad men throughout the country with whose interests he has to deal. Mr. Stahlman will not return for sev-eral days, and it is whispered that when he does show up that he will have something of interest to make known.

AFRAID OF CONSUMPTION

People who lose flesh are in danger of consumption. Light weight is too often a sign of some "wasting disease," which gets its start from indigestion. Cure the indigestion and health is rapidly regained.

Paskola, the pre-digested food, prevents indigestion by its wonderful invigorating and nutritive properties. For loss of vigor, dull feelings, headaches, constipation, sour risings and other symptoms of dyspepsia it is a sovereign cure.

risings and other symptoms of dyspepsia it is a sovereign cure.

Paskola rapidly increases the weight. Under its nourishing power the hectic flush soon leaves the consumptive's cheek, the skin assumes the hue of health, the night sweats cease, the cough dies away and the emaciation is lost under a coating of solid, warm and normal flesh.

Paskola is not a medicine, but a food, pleasant to the taste and agreeable to the weakest stomach. Being pre-digested, it is absorbed by the system the instant it is swallowed.

A pamphlet giving full particulars about Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York.

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times men and women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from hiver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present, alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some delicate or private disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper treatment given and directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

DR. HATHAWAY & CO., who make a true and genuine specialty of delicate and private diseases peculiar to men and women explain their remarkable success to this fact. They study each case thoroughly and direct their treatment to the cause, remove that and make permanent cures. This enables them to cure where others have failed. They are the acknowledged leaders in their specialty.

A Boost in Life That Will Help Him and Won't Cost You Much

You can't build anything unless you first have a foundation, whether it's a 10-story hotel or a success. Neither a house nor a man can reach any great height unless it has something to stand on. You build a foundation for your home in order that your family may be protected. Now is it not equally wise to build a foundation for a success for your children in order that their future, too, may be protected?

Education is the only sure foundation which will elevate character and brains to the height where their possessor can reach the fruit which nature intended should be his. It is not the teaching that a boy receives, but the learning that counts in the race of life. You know it is the knowledge that you acquired by puzzling out your problems yourself, not that which was given you offhrnd by a perfunctory teacher, that has stood you in good stead.

The Encyclopedia Britannica is the learning of the world concentrated; it has all there is to a college education except the college buildings and the "larks of the students." Is it not worth Another installment in the pleasing story of the steady improvement in the crop outook in Georgia has been furnished by the weekly bulletin of Acting Observer C. S.

The prospect is as roseate as ever, but within the past few weeks the weather has gone from the bad extreme of no rain to the worse extreme of too much rain, and this has threatened to destroy the splendid crop in western Georgia. In nearly every section of the state excessive rains have fallen, but the general prospect for the two principal crops is almost unexceptionally

Here is Mr. Gorgas's report:

"The continuation of frequent showers throughout the state has, during the past week, been accompanied by a steady improvement in all crops. Corn, which early in the season was thought to be almost in the season was thought to be almost on the season was thought to be almost on the season was thought to be almost on the season was thought to be almost of the season was thought to be almost on the season was the season w provement was thought to be almost beyond redemption, now gives promise of being one of the finest crops harvested for several years. Cotton in the more southerly districts is advancing rapidly toward maturity, although still quite late.

"A special investigation of the condition of grass and the prospects for the hay crop of Georgia shows that the frequent rains of the past few weeks have caused a rapid and luxurious growth of grass in most every part of the state, and it is generally believed that the hay harvested and stored every part of the state, and its generally believed that the hay harvested and stored this season will be of better quality, but of much less quantity (probably not over two-thirds) than that of last year. "And still nothing but favorable crop re-ports are received from the northwest sec-tion of the state. Crops are continuing to ports are received from the northwest section of the state. Crops are continuing to grow vigorously. Of corn it may be said that there has hardly ever been a better outlook. Some farmers think that this year's crop of corn will be the largest secured in many years. Cotton is growing rapidly also; fields full of blooms However, more sunshine would be better for cotton. Farmers are hoping that warm weather will continue late in the fall, as an early frost would be sure to catch a large share of the cotton crop, owing to its unusual lateness. Sorghum, sweet potatoes and turnips are growing finely. Melons are large and luscious.

are growing finely. Melons are large and luscious.

"Under the influence of frequent showers crops in northern Georgia have continued to improve rapidly and farmers appear to be well satisfied with the future crop outlook. Cotton, that most important of all crops, is growing rapidly, in fact, it is weeding too rapidly, becoming sappy and fruiting rather slowly. Grass on pasture lands has a luxuriant growth. Grapes are an excellent crop and are about the only fruit in the northern counties this season. Melons have been raised in large quantities; some correspondents say that the supply exceeds the market demand. Corn is in most excellent condition and the yield will be unusually large. Farmers are still busy sowing turnips. More sunshine is now needed for all crops. Peas, potatoes and garden truck are flourishing and will give a large yield.
"Heavy rains continue to be reported in busy sowing turnips. More sunshine is now needed for all crops. Peas, potatoes and garden truck are flourishing and will give a large yield.

"Heavy rains continue to be reported in northeast Georgia; nevertheless, crops are generally growing finely. It is only in those localities where the rainfall has been very excessive (and those localities were few) that any crops have been damaged. Cotton has grown so rapidly that some fear that there is too much weed, but a better idea can be formed a little later. Sunshine now would help cotton-wonderfully. A little shedding is reported on the low-lands. Corn is the banner crop this year in this section, judging from the present promising outlook. Rains have done nothing but to improve corn, and fine, large fields are seen everywhere. Fodder-pulling will soon commence. Sweet potatoes, peas and other minor crops are all growing finely. A few apples, and only a few, are to be seen on some favored farms.

"The promising prospects for crops in western Georgia will be ruined if the rain does not cease. Sunshine is what is needed most at present, especially for the improvement of cotton, which, if rain continues as in the past two weeks, will be badly damaged. It is growing every fast, but is not taking on enough fruit. In some places the blooms are sticking to the forms, and instead of being shed naturally, they are rotting off. Owing to the prevalent weather, it is quite safe to presume that the worms have already hidden themselves among the weeds or on the cotton plant itself and will soon put in their destructive work if favored much longer. Corn still improves, except in very low places, where the ground has been soaked to such an extent that it is turning yellow, and in a few places it has been totally destroyed or washed away by small floods and overflows. Gardens, peas and potatoes are doing well.

"Too much rain seems to have fallen in the central counties, but, as yet, there has been no damage of any consequence done, unless in the cotton and corn fields on the bott

Some farmers have been pulling fodder at intervals during the week, when the weather would permit. Peas are in excellent condition and will be a large crop. Corn is growing nicely and the yield will be fully up to an average of previous years. Sweet potatoes and sugar cane are flourishing and prospects are for an average yield of each.

ing and prospects are for an average yield of each,
"An over abundance of rain is reported in the southern section. Cotton has been more affected by wet weather than other crops. In spots it is turning yellow, rusting and shedding. Farmers are feeling a little blue about their cotton crop, but a spell of dry weather would probably make it look pretty well. Corn is a good crop. Some fodder has been pulled, but the major portion has yet to be secured. Fair weather is necessary to secure the fodder in good cendition. Sugarcane, sweet potatoes and rice are generally doing well. For peas it seems a little too wet. Melons have nearly all been shipped; the yield was good. Grass is very troublesome in all crops.

"From southeastern Georgia there comes a few complaints of an excess of rain and a deficiency of surshine. Altogether these conditions have as yet caused no serious damage to growing crops. Cotton is badly in need of sunshine and less moisture, but is still doing very well. Corn, except where flooded on lowlands, is in most excellent condition. Fodder-pulling is already occupying the time of the farmers in many localities, but the harvest will be rather less than was expected, owing to the wet weather. Rice is as good as could be wished for."

TOO MUCH RAIN. NO MURDER THERE.

That Is the Only Menace to Georgia Investigation by the Coroner's Jury Has Been in Vain.

THE FATHER OF THE CHILD INDIGNANT

Left Home with Three Friends Tuesday Where the Grave Was Dug.

If coroner Paden and the jury which, for several days have been investigating the case of the supposed murdered child at Holywood cemetery, will take a trip to a little cabin out on Bellwood avenue, poss bly the mystery will be solved, and the jury adjourned for the present.

In this house with several other families live Mr. Sam Bargor, a young mechanic and his wife. It was their child which was buried last Tuesday and the interment was performed by Mr. Bargor himself, accompanied by three friends. The absence of Sexton Peters at the time, and the undue sus-picion of his wife, who saw the men, caused the matter to be reported to the coroner. Investigation by the jury showed up the affair in the most sensational light, and with several slight clues to work on it was thought that a very mysterious murder would be unraveled.

The real facts in the case, however, make a peculiar story, and show an interesting state of affairs upon which the supposed murder was based.

Monday morning Mrs. Sam Bargor, who lives at 15 Bellwood avenue, gave birth to a child. It lived only a few hours and that afternoon preparations were made to bury afternoon preparations were made to bury it. The father was away at the time and it was decided to wait until the next morning. Tuesday morning Mr. Bargor with Mr. Frank Rogers, Mr. Charles Byrd and Mr. Gavis Byrd left the place for Holywood. The parents were poor and were not able to The parents were poor and were not able to buy a coffin. A large cigar box was secured and the remains of the dead infant placed

"We took the car," said Mr. Bargor last night, "and went direct to the cemetery Mr. Frank Rogers was with us and he had asked that the baby be buried on his lot. When we arrived at the cemetery we went at once to the house of the sexton, intend-ing to tell him about the matter and get his aid in burying the child.

"I asked his wife if he was there, and she replied that he had gone to the city. We replied that he had gone to the city. We had made no arrangements to have the grave dug and it was necessary for us to do it ourselves. I asked the lady for a pick and shovel. Mr. Rogers took them and he went to his lot from the house. The grave was dug and the body of the child placed in it and covered up.

"When this was finished we went back to the house and returned to the sexton's wife the pick and the shovel. Then we took the car and came into town again. That is all that is in it.

"Surely the woman had no right to suspect foul play. It is an outrage—all this talk about murder, and some one will have to answer for it."

Mr. Bargor spoke very emphatically, and sppeared greatly disturbed over the matter. "I understand that the coroner's jury has been out to the place and dug up the remains of the child. They came to 'he conclusion, I believe, 'that it was murder, and that sensational article in this afternoon's paper was, I suppose, founded upon that They have exaggerated things so that I can hardly realize that it is the same case. Mrs. hardly realize that it is the same case. Mrs. Bargor was also very indignant and expressed herself in a feeling manner."

Sufferers forget the sunlight when they notice the shadow to which disease has brought them. They have only to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and bright rays of health will soon be theirs.

The Art of Purchasing,

A recent writer says:
"Cost prices tend to cheapen quality. A life suit of clothes is liable to shrink into four hat during the first rainstorm. There is no money in that cheap suit.

son money in that cheap suit.

"Don't get into the habit of paying as little as possible and thinking of nothing else. There is a craze on us all to buy cheap. The very first question in all trading now is 'How low?' and after getting the very lowest possible prices, the attempt is made to reconcile the quality to our wants.

"The better way is to select an article that you want or need, and make your self acquainted with its merits—and you can rest easy in any good market about the price, for they are all low enough."

For instance, if you are buying watches you can take the word of users, or of dealers, as to quality, the reputation of a dealer is involved in the sale, and an old established house with a good reputation cannot afford to jeopardize it by selling "trashy" goods. J. P. STEVENS & BRO., 47 Whitehall street, have for many years made a specialty of watches, should you buy from them satisfaction is guaranteed in price as well as quality.

A KING OF ROBBERS.

James K. Stratton, Who Was Captured in Atlanta, Caught Again in Chicago.

STORY OF HIS ATLANTA CAPTURE

He Was the Leader of One of the Greatest Gangs of Robbers This Country Has Ever Known-His Arrest.

One of the most sensational catches ever made by the Atlanta police force has had two direct sequences in Chicago within the past two months.

The story of the first was told in The Constitution at the time that it occurred, and furnished a sensational chapter in the criminal records of the city. The second story differ but little in details.

James K. Stratton was the leader of the worst gang that the local police authorities ever captured-in fact he is the leader of the most notorious gang of clever thieves that ever operated in the United States. It is estimated that the amount of their stealings amounts to fully $300,000. Stratton and his band robbed postoffice boxes in Atlanta, in Nashville, Tenn., New Orleans and several southern cities. At Nashville he touched the mails for a cool sixteen hundred. Searched for by the po-lice of every city, the vigilance of the de-tectives stimulated by the offer of immense rewards by the government and by local authorities, it remained for the Atlanta officers to catch this notorious bard. The story of the capture has been twice told in The Constitution. The three men, J. K. Strattan, T. C. Boalen and Jack Diamond were arrested on the corner of Broad and Alabama streets two years ago by Patrolmen Barrett, Ivy and Aldridge and locked up on suspicion. The men were stopping at Folsom's hotel and lived in the swellest style. They wore diamonds and showed big rolls of greenback wherever they went. They were carried to police they were the policement and put up the heaviest bluff that the officers have ever known. They were kept in the lockup for several days, when they were discovered to be the most notorious crooks in all the land.

It was found that they were wanted in nearly every city in the union, and the officers had to look around for some time to find out where the most serious charges were located. The men were divided. Harry Armstrong, alias Jack Diamond, was sent to St. Louis in the custody of a deputy mar-shal. Boalen was sent to Nashville, where he escaped jall two or three days after being locked up. Stratton was carried to Denver, Col. He was convicted on the evidence of Captain Couch, of this city, and given seventeen years in the pen.

He escaped a few days after going to the pen and was at large until last Tuesday. In precisely the same manner as his accomplice, T. C. Boalen, was captured was he bagged. Boalen was seen walking along the street with three other men about two months ago. Two detectives who saw him thought he looked suspicious and run him down and caught him after a big fight in State street. The other men got away, and it is probable that Stratton was one of them. Boalen had completely transformed himself to escape detection. He had, by the exercise of wonderful skill, removed all the marks of identification, but the detectives located him after a few days. He was returned to the Nashville jail to be prosecuted for the robbery of a mail box which he committed two days before he was arrested in Atlanta.

Tuesday night last Detectives Bock and Plunkett, of Chicago, caught sight of Strat-ton, walking along Jackson street in that city, and recognized him. They placed him under arrest after a desperate light. A set of safe blower's tools was found on his Stratton will be sent to Colorado to fin-ish his sentence. He has the reputation of being the most dangerous and desprate criminal alive. He has a thoroughly har-dened appearance, and his face and hands bear many scars which tell of his frequent encounters with officers. He tells a thrilling story of his escape from the Colorado pen in company with James Keenan, a noted western highwayman.

The officers who bagged him get about $1,000 for their catch. The Atlanta officers have long expected to be rewarded for the original capture of the men, but have never

A POPULAR DRIVE.

South Pryor Street Is to Be Smoothly Paved.

The rough, uneven pavement on South Pryor street, which has for years been an eye-sore to the public and a source of discomfort and complaint, is to be replaced in a few days by a smooth and pretty pavement, as even as asphalt. The work of tearing up the old pavement will begin next Monday morning, and the street will present a busy scene for the next three months to come.

Messrs. W. A. Haskell and J. E. Hanckel, representatives of the Star lard Paving Company, which has the contract for paving the street, are in the city making proparations for the work to begin next Monday morning. Mr. Hanckel is the secretary and treasurer of this large company, the headquarters of which is at Lynchburg, Va. He will remain in the city only until the work begins, after which he will return to his home, leaving Mr. Haskell to superintend the work in Atlanta.

Mr. Haskell will have a large force at work from the time the work begins Monday until it is completed. He stated yesterday that he would have probable to be supported to the state of the state that he would have probably 150 men em ployed.

Work will be begun at Georgia avenue, which is the southern limit of the territory to be paved. The old paving will be torn up three blocks at a time, but special care will be taken not to blockade the street. The paving will be torn up on only one side of the street at a time so as to allow vehicles to pass along the thoroughfare. Mr. Haskell stated yesterday that the completion of the paving would probably take three months.

The paving is to be of vitrified brick, and when it is finished there will be no better paved street in the city with the exception of Peachtree. It will be eagerly sought after by people with stylish turnouts and will ter by people with stylish turnouts and will immediately become one of the city's most popular dr'weways. Heretofore it has been carefully avoided by pleasure drivers or cyclists. The paving is of the same character as that on the Forsyth street bridge. The job will cost the city just $18,000.

The company which will do the work did quite a large amount of similar work in Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. Hanckel, the secretary and treasurer of the company, said yesterday that he intended to establish himself in Atlanta.

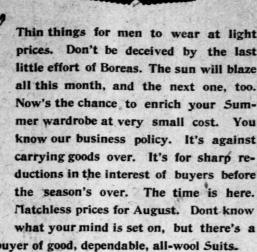

"Atlanta is the finest city I ever saw." "Atlanta is the finest city I ever saw," said he. "I am completely charmed with it. There's not another like it anywhere."

The "Alaska" possesses a provision chamber FREE FROM ODOR AND FROM DAMPNESS.
